The Situation in Belgium Critical.

Execution of Rossel and Ferre.

Rumored Marriage of Gen. Sickles.

Rossel and Ferre Shot.

PARIS, November 28.—There was agitation in the city to-day over the expected fate of the Communists. Influences were used to secure the pardon of Rossel, but these were unavailing, as a dispatch from Versailles announced that Rossel and two of his companions had been shot.

LONDON, November 27.—Col. Rossel was to have been shot at Paris to-day by a party of engineers. Jules Ferre was also shot to-day by a party from the Fifty-first regiment.

Marriage of Gen. Sickles.

MADRID, November 26.—Gen. Sickles was married to Miss Creach to-day, and started for New York immediately. His visit is an object of mystery at present.

The Situation in Belgium Critical—Expected Resignation of the Ministry.

BRUSSELS, November 28.—The agitation against the Ministry is unabated. Petitions to the King for the dismissal of Ministers are pouring in from all parts of the country. An immense mass of the people is assembled in front of Palais de la Nation. The appearance of the multitude is threatening, but a force of troops is on the ground, and although they do not attempt to disperse the crowd, they have so far succeeded in preventing violence to persons or the destruction of property. Cries of "Resign," "Resign," are heard on every side of the palace. The temper of the people is dangerous and the situation critical. The impression is that the Ministers will yield and tender their resignations to the King.

Proposed Telegraph Censorship.

LONDON, November 28.—The telegraphic dispatch recently foisted upon nearly all the newspapers of the Kingdom, announcing the amalgamation of railroad lines, is found to be a forgery. The directors of the Midland Company have offered a large reward for the detection and arrest of the perpetrators. The newspapers comment on the transaction in unqualified terms. It is suggested that all news dispatches undergo special registration at the offices where received, that parties sending them be required to give a guarantee of good faith or evidence of authority to send news dispatches, and other precautionary measures recommended.

Prussian Diet Organized.

BERLIN, November 28.—The Chamber of Deputies of the Prussian Diet effected an organization to-day. Farkenbeck was elected President and Roeller First Vice-President.

The Markets.

LONDON, November 28.—Consols 93⅜; 5-20s, '62, 91⅞; 5 20s, '65, 92⅜; 5-20s, '67, 92⅞; 10-40s, 90.

FRANKFORT, November 28.—5-20s of '62, 97⅛a97⅜.

PARIS, November 28.—Rentes 56f. 52c.

LIVERPOOL, November 28.—Cotton firm; middling uplands 9¾. Breadstuffs dull: California white wheat 12s 10d; red spring 11s@11s 4d; red winter 11s 8d; flour 25@29s; corn 32s 6d; peas 40s 6d; mess pork 47s 6d; cheese 60s.

THE BURNT DISTRICT.

A Visit to the Devastated Regions of Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, November 28.—Captain A. Longworthy, agent for the Milwaukee Relief Commission, has just returned from a visit to the burnt district of the northwest, where he has been to investigate certain reports of fraud and misappropriation, all of which he found to be false. He states that these rumors were started by unscrupulous parties, who had not suffered by the fire, but who had applied for aid and been refused; the captain found everything working well at the distributing points, where much had been done and a great deal was to be done. The Relief Committee, in conjunction with the Government, are now directing their attention to providing seed for the spring, and a circular will soon be issued on this point. In traveling over the blackened wilderness, Mr. Longworthy gathered many interesting accounts of the great tornado, and the people who are left to tell the terrible tale of that terrible night of the 8th, believed with one accord that the seventh seal was opened and the contents of wrath being scattered over the fatal land. An idea of the great heat may be imagined from the fact that in the potato field at Williamsville, where fifty-nine dead bodies were found, the potatoes were all roasted, near the surface of the ground, and some six inches under ground were partially roasted. The remains of domestic animals of all kinds, and deer, wolves and bears are scattered over the district. But the indomitable evergy that prevades the people of Chicago is seen here, and at Peshtigo fifty houses have already been erected, and with the assistance they will have during the winter they will be in a comparatively good shape to commence spring business.

ANARCHICAL MEXICO.

Pronunciamentos in Profusion—Juarez Closeted with the American Minister—Affairs Badly Mixed.

CITY OF MEXICO, November 19, via HAVANA, November 28.—A state of anarchy prevails throughout the entire Republic. The journals are filled with accounts of pronunciamentos, and the troops are growing revolutionary. General Porfirio Diaz has formally pronounced and is backed by the Legislature of the State of Iaxaca, which has decreed to return to its sovereignty. The greater part of the army is distrusted.

The Siglo of the 18th says that Juarez was closeted with the American Minister on the night of the 17th, who advised the President to change his Cabinet. The report caused a great sensation. The people are expressing fears of American intervention. Positive assurances are given of Cabinet changes in the beginning of December. It is rumored that Senor M. Romero will soon go to Washington, but whether officially or not is unknown. It is again reported that Mexico will try to raise a loan in the United States.

General Texan was arrested at Vera Cruz by order of Juarez, but escaped to La Puebla, and thence he went to Paxaca. Palacio is spoken of as Provisional Governor of Nueva Leon, where the Juarists are gaining strength.

Vidal Castoneda announced on the 15th in Congress that he was authorized to state by the Leadista party that they do not sympathize with either Diaz or the Government, but will remain neutral and fight both Government and Revolutionists. General Negrete has abandoned Diaz and gone to Sierra de Zocapoaxstla. A manifesto issued by Diaz meets with poor response. It is reported that the brothers Diaz disagree, Porfinio and his army favoring Benitez as Governor instead of Felix Diaz.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

BROWNSVILLE, NEB., November 29.—The first rail on the Brownsville and Fort Kearney Railroad was laid to-day. A large number of the citizens of Brownsville were present, and much enthusiasm prevailed. The road is in the hands of practical men, with means enough to speedily complete it.

A PROPOSAL TO PURCHASE THE TROY AND GREENFIELD RAILROAD AND THE HOOSAC TUNNEL.

BOSTON, November 28.—A special commission of the executive council was in private session to-day, to consider the proposition for the purchase of the Troy and Greenfield Railroad and Hoosac tunnel. The offer is understood to come from parties in Troy in the interest of the New York Central Railroad, and proposes to give the sum of four million dollars for the entire enterprise just as it stands. The proposed purchase is said to be opposed by the Fitchburg and Vermont and Massachusetts railroad corporations.

THE BOSTON, HARTFORD AND ERIE LEASE.

No action has been taken by the interested parties in regard to the leasing of the Boston, Hartford and Erie Railroad by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Execution of Eight Medical Students at Havana.

HAVANA, November 28.—Eight of the medical students tried by court-martial for violating the grave of General Castinon were sentenced to death this morning and executed this afternoon. They met their fate with resignation, and expressed sorrow for committing the act for which they died.

AMONG THE SAINTS.

Buildings Buried Under the Snow—Catholic Church Dedicated—The Trials.

SALT LAKE, November 27.—A dispatch from Little Cottonwood to-day says there is snow on the level about six feet deep, and the residents of Alta City have to dig themselves in and out of their dwellings. Many of the houses are buried in the snow. The storm still continues.

A young man named Jenkins was buried by a snow slide on Wednesday near the mouth of the Wellington mine. He was dug out by miners and buried at ten o'clock on Thursday morning. Several of the miners were caught in slides and escaped with great difficulty.

The new Catholic church of St. Mary Magdalene, in this city, was dedicated to-day with imposing ceremonies. Arch-Bishop Alemony, of San Joan, officiated. The number of Roman Catholics in this city is estimated at three hundred.

In the Court this morning the case of Brigham Young, for lewd and lacivious cohabitation, was called up, and upon motion of the prosecuting attorney, Monday next was fixed for the trial. Mr. Hempstead, for the defense, protested against the order on the ground that it would be impossible to have his client here at such notice. He asked for two weeks which was refused. H. B. Clawson and O. E. Bates, on the same charge, filed a plea in abatement upon the illegality of the Grand Jury, which was overruled. Henry Lawrence, on the same charge, who was ordered to plead to-day, could not appear owing to sickness.

Upon the charge against Brigham Young, W. Hickman, M. Meacham, Simon Dulton, G. D. Grant, Porter Rockwell and Wm. Kimball, for the murder of Buck, at Warm Springs in 1857, the Court is now engaged in hearing a motion of Mr. Hempstead to quash the indictment. The ground of the motion is as follows: 1st. The grand jury improperly designated the offense as murder in the first degree. 2d. That there is no addition or description of defendants. 3d. No certainty in the allegation of the date of the offense. 4th. That the decased is not alleged to have been alive at the time of the alleged murder. 5th. There is no allegation that the defendants conspired together, that they were present and abetting, or were accessories before the fact of the killing of Buck. 6th. Uncertainty in the description of the means by which the killing was effected. 7th. That the names of the witnesses are not indorsed upon the indictment, as required by statute.

A furious snow storm is raging here to-day. The canons are supposed to be entirely blocked, and there has been no communication since yesterday morning.

It is said by Overton's friends that he will withdraw the charge against Woodman and others of abducting his daughter.

SPANISH JUSTICE.

Eight Medical Students in Havana Shot for Desecrating a Grave—Others Sentenced to Imprisonment.

HAVANA, November 28.—At one o'clock this afternoon the finding of the Court-martial, which was convened to try the medical students who demolished the grave of Gonzalo Castanon, was announced from the balcony of Acting Captain General Crespas's palace. Eight of the students who were found most guilty were sentenced to be shot at four o'clock this afternoon, at the Punta. The others were sentenced to four and six years imprisonment in the penitentiary. All those sentenced to death were over eighteen years of age. The execution of the condemned prisoners took place at the specified hour. They met their death with resignation and expressed regret at having committed the act for which they died. Great excitement prevailed throughout the city during the day, and business was suspended; but at this hour (SIX P. M.) all is quiet.

Captain General Valmaseda, who was yesterday at Jucaro, is expected to arrive in Havana during the afternoon. He publishes a circular to the volunteers, promising that the guilty shall be punished, and charging recent events to the machinations of the laborantes.

CHICAGO.

The Fire Investigation—Narrow Escape of the Lake Crib—The Relief Fund.

CHICAGO, November 28.—During the investigation of the origin of the fire, John Lolam, keeper of the Lake Crib, which is two miles from the shore, testified that from eleven on Sunday night to four or five o'clock on Monday morning a perfect shower of immense shingles, all abaze, passed over or fell upon that structure. A tremendous sea was running at the time and it was impossible to leave the crib, as he was occupied all the time sweeping the brands off of the roof. But for this the structure would have been destroyed and the keeper and his wife would have perished. Another witness stated that the court house roof, old part, was tar covered, and this, added to the fact that the cornices were all wood, rendered it an easy matter for the building to ignite.

Up to this date the Chicago Aid Society has received $2,508,000 in cash for the benefit of the sufferers by the great fire.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

The Last Pan-Handle Accident—Testimony of a Conductor.

The coroner of Jefferson county, Ohio, has been investigating the cause of the recent accident on the Pan-Handle Railroad whereby two persons, a man and woman, lost their lives near Mingo Junction, the particulars of which were published in Monday's COMMERCIAL. The killed were Joshua Rhine, of New Alexandria, and Mrs. Mary White, the wife of an employee of the road, who resided at Gould's Station. The Coroner, on Monday, held an inquest at which George Denny, the conductor of train No. 20, testified as follows:

Was freight conductor on No. 20, local freight, on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railway; was westbound on Saturday; my time of leaving Steubenville is 12:35; left fifteen minutes late; lost four or five minutes between there and Mingo; arrived at Mingo same time I should have arrived at Gould's station; knew I was on No. 14's time; I thought my flagman had gone back; I was on the engine; I had a good, trusty man as flagman; did not discover that he had not gone back until a few minutes before No. 14 struck; I was running back at the time to flag No. 14, as fast as I could; had been lying at Mingo twenty or twenty-five minutes; I was there doing work (switching); it is the duty of my train to do the local work between Steubenville and Dennison; I have the right of road ahead of 14 until I get to Newmarket; I left my train on the main track; got about six car lengths before I saw No. 14 coming; I flagged them with my hat; they had not time to stop; Thomas Walker was the name of the flagman who failed to go back; he is an old railroad man.

He was standing about the middle of my train when I ran back; I hallooed for the folks in the caboose to "get out;" a boy jumped out of the window of caboose; they all had time to get out; it is the duty of the conductor to see that the flagman goes back; had a flagman out front; I saw the collission; it tore the caboose up badly and two or three freight cars; saw deceased after they were hurt; both were living; Rhine was laying against the drivers of 14; the woman was laying on side track six or eight feet from where they collided; didn't collect money off Mr. Rhine; did not see him; the accident occurred on November 25th, about five minutes after two o'clock; Walker the flagman is about twenty-eight years old; he went out the road with me; got off at Mastersville; said he would not go back on the road again; had run train two years; I have been on a year and four months; only been conductor four weeks; was brakeman one year and three months; Walker said he never thought of the coming train; said he would quit now; I had only three men, one having left at Steubenville; Walker was not in the habit of being intoxicated; all my men were sober; I knew No. 14 was due; got no orders at Steubenville or at Mingo.

The Coroner's Jury, at last accounts, had not arrived at a verdict.

GOOD judges of malt liquors say that Pier, Dannals & Co.'s bottled ales and porter are not only much cheaper, but also much better than the numerous brands of imported English ale and porter, sold in American markets.

SECOND EDITION.

WASHINGTON.

Dilemma of the Democracy.

Policy to Keep Their Mouths Shut.

American Citizens in Havana Threatened.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 28, 1871.

The Dilemma of the Democracy.

The publication of Blair's views on the political situation has created unlimited discussion among those politicians and officers who have arrived. The Democrats evince considerable chagrin at what they consider Blair's injudicious advice, and refuse to commit themselves either for or against the passive policy. Congressman Beck thinks the best thing the Democrats can do at the present time is to keep their mouths shut, and not concede that their cause is hopeless in advance of the contest. Senator Kelly, recently elected from Oregon as Williams's successor, does not think his constituents would indorse the movement, but that the Democrats would lose the State in the next Presidential election through apathy and discontent. He says that such a course, on the heels of the recent Republican victories in New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania, would be hailed on the Pacific coast as a virtual dismemberment of the Democratic party.

Accounts of Disbursing Officers.

The Secretary of the Treasury has issued orders that the accounts of every disbursing officer under the Government shall be thoroughly examined, and that an exact statement thereof be reported immediately. RELIEF TRUSTEES' MEETING.

Communications From Chicago Read—Letter From Gov. Fairchild—The Amount of Money Distributed and on Hand.

Yesterday morning the Trustees of the Chicago and Northwestern Relief Funds held a meeting at the office of Mayor Brush. The following gentlemen were present: Messrs. Pears, Harper, Nimick, Moorhead, Cook, Schmertz, Scully and Barr, and Mayor Brush presiding.

His Honor stated the object of the meeting to be to hear read some communications, recently received from Chicago, in relation to the appropriation of $5,000, made to the Ladies' Relief Committee.

A letter was read from C. G. Hammond, acting Chairman of the Chicago Aid and Relief Society, stating that the Trustees could appropriate $5,000 for the relief of the Chicago sufferers to be used by the Ladies' Society of Pittsburgh, but that the Chicago Society could not give credit to the Pittsburgh fund for that amount, because the money would not pass through their hands.

Mr. Hammond strongly intimated that the Trustees should not send the money through the Ladies' Committee and claimed that the Aid and Relief Society of Chicago was the proper organization for distribution, as it could be quite as judiciously distributed by them as by the ladies.

A somewhat protracted discussion ensued, the opinion being freely expressed that the Trustees needed no dictation from the Chicago Committee as to the manner in which the funds contributed in Pittsburgh should be distributed. The determination was expressed that the previous action of the Trustees should be adhered to.

Mr. Nimick moved that the Treasurer, Mr. Pears, be directed to place in the Bank of Pittsburgh, to the credit of Mr. Springer Harbaugh, Chairman of the Ladies' Committee, $3,500, the balance of the appropriation of $5,000 made previously.

Mayor Brush, as Treasurer of the Michigan and Wisconsin Fund, reported that thus far he had received $32,858 61, and had forwarded and expended on goods $21,999 42, leaving $10,857 19 now in his hands. Mayor Brush then read the following letter:

CHICAGO AID RELIEF SOCIETY, }
CHICAGO, November 24, 1871. }

Hon. Jared M. Brush, Mayor of Pittsburgh:

DEAR SIR:—Hearing this morning from Mr. Pears that you have on hand a sufficient quantity of clothing donated for the sufferers of the Northwest or Chicago, we beg to say that there is no want more urgent or pressing upon us than for clothing, especially under garments for women and children. Of course we also need clothing, under and outer, for men, but the women and children are suffering for warm clothing, and if you have any donated on hand, we assure you we can distribute it quickly, and supply the necessities of the suffering. Yours, truly,

HENRY KING, President.

The chairman reported some fifty or sixty boxes of clothing on hand, the most of which is new.

Mr. Harper then moved that inasmuch as clothing is not wanted in the Northwest and is badly needed in Chicago, the fifty or sixty boxes now on hand be examined, inventoried and an estimate of its value made, and that the entire amount be forwarded to the Chicago Aid and Relief Society for distribution among the sufferers by the fire. Adopted.

The following letter was then read:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
MADISON, WIS., November 22, 1871. }

His Honor J. M. Brush, Mayor of Pittsburgh:

DEAR SIR:—I have yours of the 20th inst. We have plenty of clothing and bedding for the sufferers by fire. The needs of the future are farming implements, building material, household goods and provisions, all of which will be purchased by our Committees with the cash contributions. In addition to the above is the expense of care of the burned and sick in our hospitals, seed for farmers next spring, cattle teams for those who have lost all their stock and have no means of procuring more. You will see that all that involves the expenditure of quite a large sum of money. The whole estimated expense is about $300,000. We have already in contributions about $200,000. The committees are pushing their work as rapidly as possible, and we hope to have all housed before very cold winter. A large portion of the sufferers are scattered through a new country which renders the labor of distribution somewhat slow and tedious. Any cash contributions sent to me here, or to Hon. Alex. Mitchell, Treasurer, or Hon. H. Luddington, Mayor of Milwaukee, will be expended for the purchase of necessary articles. I will to-day write Mr. Mayor Luddington regarding the $3,000 you mention.

I give you the hearty thanks of my fellow-citizens in the burned district for your interest in their sufferings, to which allow me to add my personal thanks.

Very truly yours,

LOUIS FAIRCHILD.

On motion of Mr. Harper the Mayor was directed to forward $5,000 to Governor Fairchild, of Wisconsin, to be appropriated to the benefit of the sufferers in that State in accordance with the letter from his Excellency, dated November 22. The motion was unanimously adopted.

Treasurer Pears reported that he had now in his hands $44,000 for Chicago, and that he had already sent on $46,000.

CLEVELAND AND PITTSBURGH RAILROAD.

Appointments Under the New Management.

J. M. McCullough, General Manager of the Pennsylvania Company, assumes the management of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad Company on the 1st proximo, under the lease of that Road to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. He has made the following appointments, to take effect on that day: R. F. French, Assistant General Manager, office at Cleveland, O.; G. A. Ingersoll, office at Cleveland, O.; G. F. Bingham, Auditor, office at Cleveland, O.; John Thomas, Superintendent, office at Wellsville, O.; Wm. Stewart, General Freight Agent, office at Pittsburgh; F. R. Myers, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, office at Pittsburgh.

Temperance Concert.

A large audience, comprising, as part of it, many of our leading citizens in various walks of life, and their wives and daughters, assembled in the hall of the Young Men's Christian Temperance Association, Duquesne way, last evening, upon the occasion of the free concert given by Professor C. C. Mellor and the following admirable quartette: Mrs. C. C. Mellor, soprano; Miss Benham, alto; Mr. Diehl, tenor; Mr. Petty, bass. The programme was extensive and varied, and excellently sustained throughout, a number of the pieces being rapturously encored, notably the "Hunter's Song" duet by Mrs. Mellor and Miss Benham, and that popular exquisite gem, "The Last Rose of Summer," which was rendered by Mrs. Mellor with wonderful expression and feeling. We have not space to describe the performance in detail, nor to do more than simply refer to the beautiful little speech of Rev. Dr. Squier, redolent of brooks and birds, nor to the earnest, lifting words of Rev. Mr. Greenough, or of the other speakers who, sandwiched between songs, gave additional interest to the hour. Prof. Mellor presided at the piano, which, it should be said, was generously furnished by himself for the occasion. We are quite sure that, alike in what comes of it to others, and in the sense of satisfaction yielded to themselves, the good friends who gave this free concert will find that it paid them liberally.

THE WIDOW AND THE ORPHAN.

Fifth Annual Report of the Widows' Home Association of Allegheny City.

The annual meeting of the Widows' Home Association of Allegheny city, was held November 27th, 1871, and a resolution ordering the publication of the reports of the Secretary and Treasurer was passed, and the following officers and managers for the ensuing year elected:

OFFICERS.

President—Mrs. F. R. Brunot.
Vice President—Miss Mary Herron.
Treasurer—Mrs. R. D. Thompson.
Secretary—Miss J. M. Smith.

MANAGERS.

Mrs. Sands,
Mrs. Jas. Hoag,
Mrs. Wm. Gorman,
Mrs. Miller,
Miss Mary Whitten.

ANNUAL REPORT.

The Executive Committee of the Widow's Home Association respectfully submit their fifth annual report to the benefactors of this institution, and in so doing would gratefully acknowledge the protecting care of Him whose mercies are new every morning, and whose sustaining arms are ever extended unto those who put their trust in Him; a father to the fatherless, a husband to the widow, the poor He considereth and turneth their sorrow into joy, verifying His promises unto them: "In six troubles I will deliver thee; yea, in the seventh I will let no evil touch thee."

Death this year has entered the home, taken the lad and the babe from the widowed mothers, and brought down some in full age to the grave, as a shock of corn cometh in its season. When we entered upon this year the house was full, every available room was rented; but as months passed changes came. One had been suffering with consumption for a long time. The Lord in His own good time released her from pain and took her unto Himself; also, in a short time, her crippled sister, who was much afflicted, but patient, good and kind; whose condition appealed to the commiseration of all who knew her, and under great difficulties, if possible, was ever found in her seat at the prayer-meetings. We trust she is now enjoying the full fruition of that peace of which she here had a foretaste.

Another aged one, who has been waiting and watching for the summons to join a much loved husband; when the messenger came she was happy in the prospect for her wearied soul was longing for that heavenly rest.

Another meek and quiet spirit recently passed away, having suffered for a long time with the distressing disease of cancer, and the last few months she lingered on a sick bed. Through all her affliction she taught a beautiful lesson of submission to the Divine will, exemplyfying in her character the realities of that religion which makes life sweet, and when death comes brings solid comfort. Two of the very old ones were received into the Home for Aged Protestant Women; one widow with two children moved out; one was not able to take care of herself and she was taken away.

Three widows have been received. The inmates are industrious, some are very hard working, requiring the proceeds of each day's work to provide for themselves and children; some are invalids, some are old and infirm, but manage by sewing and knitting to bring unto themselves many of the comforts of life; and the mere nominal rent we require of them is used in defraying the contingent expenses of the property. You will see by the Treasurer's report it has taken nearly all the rent money to defray the expenses of this year, leaving us but a small sum for necessary repairs we wish to put on the building. The accumulated amount is the bequests of friends, with interest added, reserved for erecting tenements; so by requiring this rent, which is about one-half the amount it takes to pay elsewhere, we find it gives them an independent feeling of self-reliance and dependence on their own exertion for support, and at the same time we surround them with the protecting care of the Association; and considering the vicissitudes of these aged, infirm and hard working people have to pass through in this life, may patience have her perfect work and love be extended towards them in all humility.

Thanks are returned to the lady whose last Thanksgiving offering of poultry and other things were so acceptably received, as well as her many gifts through the year, and also to another whose Christmas presents, consisting of thirty-six dress patterns and gifts for children. "They who giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord," and may you be doubly repaid in knowing that many hearts were made glad at your valuable and well timed presents, as well as to all others who have contributed to the comfort and welfare of the inmates;—to Dr. O. Miller, who always visited gratuitously when called upon, or any of the Physicians who visited this year; to the press for the publication of reports; to the clergy for ministerial visitations, and to the Young Men's Christian Association for their faithful and continued kindness in taking charge of the prayer meetings which are held every Tuesday evening at 7½ o'clock, and on the Lord's day at 4 P. M. May a rich blessing always award those who never tire in well doing, and whose ministrations are for the advancement of Christ's kingdom.

J. M. SMITH,
Secretary.

CITY MATTERS IN BRIEF.

OUR store windows are a spectacle to behold.

GAMES for home amusement are in demand.

CHRISTMAS presents are already made mention of.

SWEET cider is a rare commodity in our market.

DEAD branches on trees in the streets should be lopped off before accidents occur.

RETURN tickets, if more universally issued, would encourage patronage on our railroads.

THERE is no good reason why medical works should fill prominent bookcases in libraries frequented by ladies.

JANE VANULAN makes another charge against John Finn, charging him with the larceny of wearing apparel.

MR. CHARLES R. GARDNER, who formerly kept the Concert Hall shoe store in this city, is about to open a new theater in Chicago.

THE street cars on the Oakland and East Liberty Passenger Railway will commence running to East Liberty on Thursday next as heretofore.

THERE were seventeen in the audience at the Mayor's matinee yesterday seeking forgiveness for their misdeeds.

MR. J. C. CAMPBELL, who was so successful with Manager Beamer, is playing with great "Pomp" in Philadelphia.

REV. VAN DE MARK'S lecture did not come off as advertised last evening. A placard at Library Hall announced that the gentleman had suddenly been taken very sick.

THE citizens' meeting, called last night for action in relation to the improvement of the Ohio river, was but slimly attended, owing no doubt to the fact that it was not sufficiently advertised.

THOMAS BALTIMORE, the colored porter at the Central Hotel, who was charged with stealing whisky, has been discharged, the prosecutor not appearing.

W. B. CLAPP, ESQ., formerly of this city, and who was among the sufferers by the Chicago fire, is in business there again, and, it is reported, doing as large a trade as ever, in the jewelry line.

JOHN C. MCCARTHY, ESQ., will not be a candidate for Council from the Fifth ward this time. He thinks brains are not needed in Council, and that he can use his talents to better advantage than trying to reform that body.

THE hearing in the case of the old man, Aikens, charged with shooting the lad, Michael Kirby, on Webster avenue, has been postponed until the 7th of December on account of the condition of the sufferer.

THE invitations extended to the reporters of the city press to eat their thanksgiving dinners with the small-pox patients at the Allegheny Hospital, have been respectfully declined. What did the reporters ever do on Dr. Hanna?

As Deputy Sheriff Stubbs and Mr. Dawson were returning from Bakerstown, where the had been on business, a valuable horse that they were driving suddenly dropped dead. The animal was the property of Sheriff Fleming.

THOMAS WHITE, yesterday morning, missed a lot of wood valued at ten cents, from his premises in the Ninth ward, and suspecting Ann Squeesengrunt, one of his neighbors, of the larceny, preferred a charge against her before Alderman O'Donnell, and a warrant for her arrest has been issued.

JAMES MCKINNEY was before the Mayor yesterday for breaking a window in James O'Rourke's tavern on Wood street. Ten dollars was the sum assessed against James, but he hadn't his check book with him, and he departed for a month's stay at Claremont.

PARTIES having invitations to the Gray's ball, at Oil City, this evening, can purchase excursion tickets from the ticket agent of the Allegheny Valley road, good until December 2d. A large delegation of soldiers and civilians will go up from this city, and a pleasant time is in prospect.

THE boys John Finn, Teddy Finn and Geo. Knox, accused of stealing buckets from Wilson's grocery store on Third avenue, have all been arrested and are now in jail awaiting trial. There are other charges of larceny against the Finn's which will likely be sufficient in court to finish their depredations for some time.

MR. WM. C. MCCARTHY, ex-Mayor, is a candidate for Select Council in the Eleventh ward. Mr. McCarthy served in the same capacity before consolidation, and was a very active and efficient member. He is thoroughly acquainted with municipal affairs, is not afraid to work, and if elected will serve his ward creditably.

PETER WHORTON appeared before Alderman Taylor yesterday, and preferred a charge of false pretenses against Thomas Curtin. He alleged that the accused came to his premises, and by fraudulent representations, he allowed him to take away a lot of baggage, which had been levied upon for two weeks boarding. A warrant was issued.

JAMES PAXTON and J. A. ROSS, alias "Bruiser" had informations made against them yesterday, charging them with larceny. The prosecutor, John Grassmayer, accuses them of being the parties who relieved him of $125 in the White House on Monday evening. The accused have been committed for future disposition.

YESTERDAY morning Christian Seivly was severely injured at the mill of Hubbard, Lippincott, Bakewell & Co, He was working about a grindstone when he got caught by the belt and whirled around once or twice, breaking his right leg and dislocating his left hip. Dr. Webster amputated the leg, but at last accounts the sufferer was very low.

A CHARGE of assault was preferred on yesterday before Alderman Taylor against Sarah Ryan, on oath of Matthew Dunnegan, who alleged that the accused visited his premises while in a state of intoxication, and assaulted him with a war of words. Sarah was arrested, and in default of bail was committed for a hearing on Saturday.

JOSEPH COOK, yesterday, was walking along Penn street, and having occasion to drop in a store, set down his carpet sack, which, as he alleged before Alderman Taylor, he had no sooner done than a man named Wm. King picked it up, and walked off. The carpet sack contained clothing to the value of about twenty-five dollars. The accused was arrested, and is now in jail awaiting a hearing on Saturday next.

THE male attendants at Dixmont Hospital are to give a "Variety" performance, for the amusement of the inmates, on Thanksgiving evening. These entertainments not only serve to relieve the monotony to which the unfortunate insane are necessarily subject, but have been found beneficial in their effects upon some classes.

THE sleeping car of the express train from Philadelphia, which arrived here yesterday morning, caught fire from the stove when about ten miles west of the Quaker City. There was some consternation among the passengers when the fact became known, but the train was stopped and a sudden end put to the fire. The car was considerably damaged.

MR. GEORGE F. LARIMER is a candidate for School Director in the first precinct of the Twelfth ward. The name has been so incorrectly printed in nearly all the papers that his most intimate friends would fail to recognize it. Mr. Larimer is a very intelligent mechanic, a warm friend of the common school system, and entertains liberal views on the subject of popular education. If elected he will prove a useful member of the School Board.

HENRY A. GUERNSEY, an ex-Collector of Revenue in the Eighteenth District, charged with embezzlement, was brought here yesterday from Lycoming county, by Deputy Marshal Fowler, of Lock Haven. Having failed to settle up his accounts, suit was entered upon his official bond. He was subsequently charged with embezzlement. Judge McCandless demanded bail in $25,000, and the amount not being tendered the accused was remanded into custody.

CHRISTIAN WORK IN CHICAGO.

Thanksgiving Collections.

The rebuilding of the burnt district with temporary structures is rapidly progressing. Over three thousand grants of lumber for cottages have been made, and a large number will be completed before Thanksgiving. We are glad to learn that mission work among the sufferers is not to be neglected. The churches in the north division have been consumed, but the workmen are already at work on the ruins of Mr. Moody's mission, preparing to erect a spacious, though not a costly tabernacle there. The Young Men's Christian Association is also erecting a large Mission Sabbath School House farther south, in the vicinity of the barracks. At their depot in the Seventh Church, corner of Peoria and Jackson streets, they have held a Sufferer's Prayer Meeting on Sabbath evenings since the fire, fully attended and pervaded by profound interest. Two Noon Day Prayer Meetings are held daily—one in the American Reformed, the other in the First Baptist Church. The Association is now supplying Bibles, in German, Swede, Norwegian and English to the sufferers, and it is noteworthy that the majority of applicants are Swedes and Germans.

The Relief Work of the Y. M. C. A. still goes on, in the supply of bedding and clothing. There is great suffering for want of blankets and flannels among the better classes, who shrink from public charity. Through the members of the churches, the Y. M. C. A. discover and supply such cases without respect of creed. No case of evident distress is ever sent away unrelieved. A large amount of money has been disbursed by that association in small sums to families going into bare unfurnished rooms, and in cases of sickness. Particular care has been taken to discover and relieve the Mission School children and their families, and the members of the churches. Several ministers have been gladdened by the visits of the Y. M. C. A. with stoves, bedding, and some of the comonest necessaries of life.

To enable them to carry on this work, the, Y. M. C. A. has issued a circular asking all the pastors and churches to take up a Thanksgiving collection for them, and remit it to their Secretary, Rev. Robert Patterson, at their depot. We cannot imagine anything more appropriate. Surely every Christian family sitting down to the enjoyment of the bounties of a plentifully furnished home would enjoy those services all the same if they had previously contributed a few dollars to relieve their Chistian brethren and sisters in the barracks, or in the almost as desolate single lodging rooms, each of which serves for bedroom, kitchen, dining room and parlor. The poor little children, especially, are the sufferers now. "There won't be any Christmas this year, ma, will there?" asks one of the little ones. Another nudges his mother as the vistor enters, and says, "Mother, we are very short of provisions, ain't we?" The poor sick lady, after standing four hours, basket in arm, had been obliged to leave the public depot without a supply. This will be a winter of severe suffering to hundreds of such families in Chicago.

Mr. Oliver McClintock, 23 Fifth avenue, has kindly consented to receive and forward donations.

HORNE & CO.

Penn Avenue Stores—Immense Stock of Fine Goods.

One of the largest and most complete establishments of its character in the West is the dry goods and trimming store of Joseph Horne & Co., 197 and 199 Penn avenue. They have not only the largest stock of goods in their line ever brought to this market, but are selling at a lower scale of prices than ever before since the war, and some classes of goods are sold at less than anti-war prices. The entire stock is being increased daily in every department with the choicest and most desirable goods in the market. They have on hand a much finer line of goods in every department than has ever before been offered in this city, and are consequently prepared to meet the wants of all classes of customers, the wealthy as those of moderate means, and all classes receive equal treatment at this model establishment, and all can be suited both as to quality and price.

In another column will be found an advertisement of this popular house, to which we call the attention of our readers, as it will convey a much better idea of the line of goods kept by them than it would be possible for us to do. We desire to refer, however, to an addition lately made to the men's department, to which has been added a department for cloaks, in which will be found everything in that line from an imitation seal skin at $3 50 to the very finest imported and includes real seal skins, black silk velvets, beaver chinchilla and astrachan, making one of the largest and most attractive stocks ever exhibited in the city. Also a department for black dress silks of the most popular makes and of their own importation, enabling them to give the best value in this line to be had anywhere, in qualities from the lowest to the finest grades.

THANKSGIVING DINNER.

The Opera House Dining Rooms—Great Preparations for To Morrow.

Mr. George Reineman, the exceedingly popular and courteous proprietor of the Opera House Dining Rooms, is making extensive preparations for a grand Thanksgiving Dinner to-morrow, and the patrons of the establishment may rely upon a genuine feast, as it is characteristic of Mr. Reineman to do everything he undertakes in a first class manner. The tables will be supplied with game of all kinds, including venison, wild turkey, pheasants, prairie chickens, quail, and every other description of game known to this market, as well as fish of all kinds, and all the different kinds of oysters, served in all the various styles as the steward at the Opera House Dining Rooms alone knows how to serve them. The public may rest assured that they can get a better thanksgiving dinner at the Opera House Dining Rooms than at any other establishment in the city. The bar is supplied with pure liquors, wines, &c., and all kinds of mixed drinks can be obtained, served in better style than at any other bar in the city. The billiard rooms, which are the best in the city, having recently been refurnished with new tables and equipments will be open all day and evening. Call in and be convinced that what we have said is the truth and nothing more.

AN ORGANIZED GANG.

Capture of Young Thieves.

The police complain of the depredations of a gang of young thieves who have, from time to time of late, been pilfering from stores and private houses. Yesterday, it is hoped, a successful effort to break up the crowd was made. No less than half a dozen lads were arrested, all of whom are supposed to be connected with the same "ring." Two of the boys were arrested by market constable Jacob Metz, for stealing small articles from stores on Market street. Two others were arrested for the theft of some buckets from Mr. Wilson's store on Third avenue, and a third couple were arrested by Lieutenant Gordon for stealing pocket-handkerchiefs from Moorhead's millinery store on Market street, near the Diamond. The names given by the latter are Michael Cauley and Thomas Sullivan. The young thieves, it is alleged, generally travel by threes, and when an article is stolen it is quickly passed from the boy who steals it to the second and he gives it to the third who stows it away somewhere until otherwise disposed of. The Mayor is determined to break the gang up, and his efforts will be warmly seconded by the citizens and the police.

Thanksgiving in Canonsburg.

Thanksgiving evening promises to be one of unusual interest in this ancient and modern seat of learning. The "Brown Brothers" are to give a concert in the College chapel, in the interest of Jefferson College and matters therewith connected. It is expected that quite a number of the Alumni will be present, and all who may come will be hospitably treated and made entirely at home. The preparations for the evening are being arranged on the most liberal basis. It is sufficient to know that the matter is in the hands of the "Brown Brothers," in order to insure success in entertainments of this kind.

Death of Wm. M. Blackburn, Esq.

A special meeting of the Pittsburgh Law Association has been called by the President, and will be held this (Wednesday) afternoon at three o'clock, in the Common Pleas Court Room No. 2, to take appropriate action with reference to the death of Wm. M. Blackburn, Esq., who was both a member of the bar and Law Association of this county.

Mercantile Library Lectures.

The Library Association offers our lecture going people a rich treat in the lecture on Queen Elizabeth, by Dr. Lord, on to-morrow evening. Dr. Lord occupies the front rank among our many lecturers, and invariably attracts large audiences wherever he goes. His subject is one of unusual interest, and will doubtless attract a large attendance. We would state, in this connection, that all the lectures in the Library course will be headed, "Mercantile Library Lectures."

Jenkins, the proprietor, makes it a point to deal in fresh goods, and never sells stale goods of any description. He has built up a large and flourishing trade, and his goods never become stale on his hands, so that there is no danger of his patrons receiving old goods. Mr. Jenkins and his salesmen are all courteous and agreeable, and those who favor the Old Tea House with a call will not regret it.

CITY ELECTION.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF THE CITY OF PITTSBURGH.

On Tuesday, DECEMBER FIFTH, you will elect for the term of three years a Mayor, Treasurer and City Controller. In view of the well-known ascendancy of the Republican party in this community it would seem unnecessary to remind you of your duty as citizens and the obligations which devolve upon you to support by votes and influence the candidates which have been placed in nomination as the exponents of your principles. The base attempt now being made to defeat our candidate for Mayor, and to elevate to the Chief Magistracy of this city a man always identified with our political opponents seems to demand notice. Under the flimsy guise of an "ANTI-RING," "Independent" or "Citizens" candidate, a life-long Democrat who clung to the desperate fortunes of his party during the entire rebellion and who to this hour has never faltered in its support, save when he has furled the banner of the party that he might more readily win a partisan victory, again seeks the highest municipal office in your gift. Your votes are to be purloined, if possible, by the paltry devices of political strategy and the executive control of this great Republican city, with its varied manufacturing and commercial interests is to pass for three years into the hands of the Democrats. With an audacity that cannot but provoke a smile of derision these followers of a so-called Democracy, whose Chiefs and Sachems have just been thrust from power in the first city of the Union by an indignant people for their unblushing rascality and peculation, here, in Pittsburgh, don the robes of civic virtue and strut upon our streets as examplars of political honesty and the opponents of "Rings!" While we, as Republicans, may be amused by the antics of these impostors, let us rebuke at the polls the insult they would thus put upon our intelligence and descernment.

In support of the fact that Mr. Blackmore is recognized by the faithful as the candidate of the Democratic party, it need only be stated that the Democratic City Executive Committee met on Wednesday, 15th inst., at the St. Charles Hotel, and unanimously resolved to make no nomination, but to support Mr. Blackmore as the man of their choice for the Mayoralty. The Pittsburgh Post has also been filled with sensational falsehoods and atrocious calumnies on Mr. Morgan, alleging that he intended having the election held at the City Hall, instead of at the usual polling places in the different wards; and that he also was using his influence as your candidate to open the doors of the Western Penitentiary to enlist recruits to his standard, by procuring the pardon of convicted felons incarcerated there. It would be astounding, indeed, if the Republican party at this day, and in the light of recent events, should conclude to resort to the desperate tactics of Tammany Hall to carry a municipal election! These weak and preposterous inventions of the enemy serve only to disclose their deadly malice and the importance they attach to the present contest. We are on the eve of a Presidential campaign the results of which will affect the destinies of our country for all coming time, and if the Republican Party is successful, as we all believe and hope, the sad experiences of the past will not have been in vain. At such a moment it behooves us to avoid even the appearance of wavering and to rally in unbroken phalanx in defense of our principles and in support of our candidates.

Aside from weighty political considerations, candor compels your committee to state that the time during which Mr. Blackmore acted as Mayor failed to develop his fitness for that important trust. During his official term thousands of dollars of fines and penalties publicly imposed were privately "remitted," and the offenders thus escaped the punishment due their crimes. An examination of his official record shows that thousands of dollars were thus lost to the city treasury, and that offenders were daily turned loose and "discharged," unwhipped of justice! The scenes of disorder and turbulence which marked his reign cannot but be well remembered by the public, and we need only now recall them to your notice. It is, perhaps, a curious illustration of the better instincts of our common nature that these recipients of Mr. Blackmore's mistaken leniency appear, even yet, to strongly cherish a sentiment of gratitude in his behalf.

The Republican candidate for Mayor, B. W. Morgan, deserves and should receive your cordial and earnest support at the polls. A native of Pittsburgh, without the advantage of inherited wealth, he has filled with credit to himself various positions of honor and trust with admitted fidelity and ability. Having an honorable record as a citizen and one also to which he may point with pride as a soldier in the late war, as born out by the testimonials of Union officers of high rank, his comrades in arms, he is entitled not only to your suffrages, but to a generous and enthusiastic support. Nominated for the office of Chief Executive of the city by the Republican party, after a struggle for that high honor of unusual warmth, your Committee cannot for a moment believe that you will permit his defeat to be accomplished by the arts of a selfish demagoguism. If elected, he will bring to the discharge of his duties, administrative ability, a due sense of the responsibilities of the station and a resolve to honestly and inflexibly abide by his oath of office.

Mr. C. L. Magee, the candidate for City Treasurer, is eminently fitted for that position. For a long time chief clerk in the office of the City Treasurer, already familiar with its financial affairs, and an ardent Republican, we bespeak for him your most active exertions in his behalf.

The supporters of Mr. Blackmore for Mayor have recently put forward for this office a Mr. Stark in opposition to the regular Republican nominee. This attempt to sugar-coat the Democratic candidate with a very weak solution of Republicanism cannot impose upon any one.

Mr. McGowan, City Controller, needs no encomium from us. Faithful and capable, a fine type and representative of the intelligent workingman, at home alike in the workshop or when clad in the robes of office and charged with responsible duties, no better or purer man is needed to guard the city expenditures.

Republicans of Pittsburgh the Dissemblers of the "Anti-Ring" and other independent schools, count largely on your apathy and indifference; indeed they rely mainly upon this sort of negative support to achieve success, and to sieze for three years upon the administration of the affairs of your city. We conjure you, therefore, one and all to go to the Polls on the 5th day of December next and as citizens valuing the high privilege of participating in the government of our city, now expanding into a great metropolis, to vote for the candidates of that party with which its prosperity is identified, and confide the interests of Pittsburgh to its protecting care and keeping.

ROBERT C. ELLIOT,
Chairman City Executive Committee.

SOUTH SIDE.

ITEMS IN BRIEF.

EX-JUSTICE LIPP is now one of the leading lawyers on the South Side.

THE Monongahela bridge continues in a perpetual state of being repaired.

THE grade of several of the streets leading from Carson to the river is being improved.

YELLOW flags are now very scarce on the South Side.

THE cloud of smoke that hovered over the boroughs on the South Side yesterday was almost thick enough to cut with a knife.

JUSTICE SALISBURY was diving deeply into the mysteries of a civil action for trespass and damages yesterday. Nothing else.

SOME floating real estate was being removed from Carson street yesterday. The opportunities for a continuance of the good work are excellent.

SCHAFFER'S block, on the corner of Carson and Fourteenth streets is nearly completed. A fine stone pavement is being put down.

THE grading for the P. C. & V. R. R. is still actively progressing in South Pittsburgh. The connection to be made by this road with the Pan Handle bridge is now in course of construction.

THE sidewalk on the upper side of Carson street, not far from the Pan Handle Bridge, is for some distance obstructed by the piles of brick from the houses torn down to make way for the new railroad. Where is the Street Commissioner?

LARCENY and adultery are the charges preferred by Michael Fox against his wife Caroline, before Justice Ammon, of East Birmingham. Peter Fisher and some missing money figure in the case. Hearing to-day.

Resolution of Thanks.

At a meeting of Post 151 of the G. A. R., in Birmingham, a resolution was passed, thanking Col. Negley and staff, Capt. Tyson, of Post 88, Mr. S. Krewson, and the ladies and gentlemen who so kindly volunteered and so ably sustained their characters during the recent performance of the "Drummer Boy" at the Academy.

Cruelty to Animals.

Yesterday afternoon an information was made before Justice Barker of South Pittsburgh, charging a man named John White with cruelly whipping a very poor looking horse. The animal was attached to a large wagon filled with coal, and as it vainly endeavored to pull the load through the mud on Carson street near the end of the bridge, the driver would cruelly lash the ghostly looking beast about the legs with a stout rawhide. Officers Stemler and Davis took White into custody and brought him before the Justice who, very properly, held him to answer the charge of cruelty to animals. The prisoner plead in extenuation of his act that he lived in Mansfield; had just returned from a trip to Steubenville, where he had spent all his money, and was anxious to sell the horse in order to replemish his exchecquer. He commenced in a bad way. The sooner that society for the prevention of cruelty to animals is organized, the better.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1871.

CITY TICKET

MAYOR,
BENJAMIN W. MORGAN.
TREASURER,
CHRISTOPHER L. MAGEE.
CONTROLLER,
ROBERT J. McGOWAN.

Mr. M. F. Egan has been appointed Business Manager of the Commercial, and is authorized to transact business for and in the name of the Company.

THE seat of Senator Weakly, of the Nineteenth District, of which the return judges undertook to deprive him by refusing to perform their duty by certifying to the returns, will be contested before the Senate. This his opponent has a perfect right to do, but the presumption is, that having attempted and failed to accomplish his object by unfair means, he has small expectation of succeeding by fair means.

MONTGOMERY and FRANK BLAIR have put forth deliverances on the subject of the Presidency and the Democratic party. They sound like testimony of the nearest surviving relatives before a coroner's jury. The BLAIRS give up entirely, not being able to perceive a single ray of hope for the Democratic party. In fact they are quite pathetic, especially FRANK, who when in the melting mood is a pitiful object, as his friends will admit.

REFERRING to the question of Governor GEARY's successor, the Philadelphia Post says: The candidates thus far announced are Generals HARTRANFT and WHITE, Colonel PENNYPACKER, Messrs. G. DAWSON COLEMAN, KETCHUM, MOORHEAD, PACKER and FRANCIS JORDAN, present Secretary of the Commonwealth." The Post adds: "JAMES K. MOORHEAD will be strong in the west." It is well known to the intimate friends of General MOORHEAD that he has no intention of being a candidate for this or any other office, and considers himself quite out of public life and active politics.

THE address of the City Executive Committee, herewith printed, places before the Republican voters of Pittsburgh the considerations relating to their duty in the ensuing city election. The succinct examination of Mr. BLACKMORE's claims to the office of Mayor will arrest attention. It is boldly asserted that during his administration of the office "thousands of dollars were lost to the city treasury" by the remission privately of fines which had been imposed publicly, whereby "offenders were daily turned loose and 'discharged' unwhipped of justice." Citizens valuing properly the necessity of the rigid administration of justice will not hesitate as between this candidate and Mr. MORGAN, who can be relied on to enforce the law and discharge every duty with vigor and fidelity.

IN view of the growing importance of the commercial relations between Australia and the Pacific coast States of the United States, and the of fact that the Indian Archipelago and Southeastern Asia are every day becoming of more consequence as centers of trade, the importance of obtaining an American foothold in the Pacific is beginning to attract attention. Nothing can be more certain than that modern enterprise will not long allow vast tracts of land, rich in mineral and agricultural wealth, and capable of yielding all the productions of tropical and semi-tropical regions, to remain in a condition of barbarous inutility; recognizing which fact, a writer who has given much study to the subject calls attention thereto, and argues that, since our Western boundary is the natural and nearest neighbor to a large number of the islands of the Southern Pacific, the United States ought to establish itself somewhere in that quarter without delay, in order to gather the first fruits of any extension of civilization, and to control it in accordance with our national principles. There is no doubt that as the population of Australia increases, and the trade between it and our own country assumes greater proportions, the control of the great highway between the two countries would prove of considerable value to our commerce and to our general influence in the East. Whether, however, the United States is at present in a position to undertake such a movement, is a different question.

WHILE the recklessness, extravagance, deception and rascality which have characterized the management of the State finances of South Carolina cannot be too severely reprehended, it is to be hoped that in the information now being given to the public by the opposition press, there will be no concealment of the facts should it turn out that a number of the immaculate chivalry of that State are implicated in the dishonorable transactions which have emptied the treasury and ruined the credit of the Commonwealth. Politics, it is said, makes strange bedfellows, and it is probable that the love of lucre leads to fellowships fully as remarkable. A certain Mr. TYSON, until within a few days an attache of the Charleston Courier, having left that journal in consequence of a disagreement with its proprieters, in its issue of the 25th instant publishes a card in which he gives them notice that if the information which they had stated to him they had received, "that certain leading South Carolinians, ex-Confederate general officers, were implicated in the bond frauds," did not appear in the Courier of the following day, he should publish it himself and give the proprietors of that journal as his authority. This is a new phase of the matter, and will probably cause quite a fluttering in the South Carolina Democratic dovecotes. The Courier loftily says it shall not take the trouble to deny any charge which the writer may make, because the people know it "too well to require a denial," which may be true in a sense quite different from that intended by the writer. We refer to the matter for the reason that so much has been said respecting the necessity of putting the affairs of the State under the control of its honest and capable Democracy. But when the wife of CÆSAR lapses, in whom shall confidence be placed?

GEORGIA REACTIONISTS.

GOVERNOR CONLEY's veto of the special election bill passed by the Legislature of Georgia, has already been adverted to. This bill, it will be recollected, provided for an election of Governor on the third Tuesday of December, notwithstanding the fact that the regular quadrennial election of Governor takes place in less than a year from date. The bill, however, has since been passed over the Governor's veto, and therefore becomes an act, under which, should its provisions be carried out, the people of Georgia are to have two elections for the same office within the next twelve months. But it is not certain that the election will be held. The bill was passed by the same faction, under the direction of the same leaders, who in 1868 expelled the colored members of the General Assembly, and opened the door for the troubles and disasters some of whose effects still afflict the State. The present proceeding is equally unconstitutional and revolutionary; the bill having been passed not only in flagrant violation of the plain letter of the Constitution, but also in violation of the Assembly's own rules of action. Should the programme now agreed upon by the reactionists be persisted in, it will probably result in the establishment of two State Governments, each claiming recognition as the lawfully constituted authority, a condition of affairs which will inevitably call for the interposition of the National Government. Indeed, one of the ablest Democrats in the Legislature said, in a speech opposing the measure, that the passage of the bill "would put the people on a platform where the Federal Government would have a right to interfere." It is evident that the bill was concocted in the interest of the worst political passions and purposes. Not only is the Executive Chair now filled in the manner prescribed by the Constitution, but the incumbent is a man against whom no charge can be brought, except that he was a Unionist during the war, and has been a consistent Republican ever since. This, we suspect, constitutes his offense, and is the cause of the rebel madness which rules the hour. The Legislature has also passed an act postponing the collection of all taxes except the poll tax, which, it is estimated, will be six dollars per capita. Of course it will be impossible for the majority of poor men to pay this amount, and therefore they will be unable to vote. Upon the face of it, indeed, it is apparent that this action was the result of a deliberate conspiracy to practically disfranchise the Republican voters of the State at the coming election, so as to place the success of the Bourbons beyond a doubt. Furthermore, a motion has been introduced in the Legislature to appoint a committee to estimate the monthly losses incurred by the people of Georgia in the emancipation of their slaves, and to demand from Congress compensation for the same, a piece of rebellious insolence which should be instantly and severely rebuked by the entire Democracy of the North, if they would have us believe that their professions of repentance for the past, and their promises of decent conduct for the future, are anything other than the most transparent hypocrisy. Will they do it?

WHAT SOME MEN KNOW ABOUT BOILERS.

Much as has been said concerning the practical operations of the steamboat law of February, 1871, there are some phases of the question that have never been presented, as for instance facts and figures showing the character of the material employed in the manufacture of boilers, the relative tensile strength of heated and cold plates, and the amount of pressure they may be subjected to with perfect safety. A careful investigation of the facts serves in a great measure to dispel the common belief that a pressure of one hundred and fifty pounds to the square inch is always attended with danger.

The tensile strength of BROWN & Co's United States boiler plate iron, as determined by experiments conducted at the Navy Yard at Washington, was found to be sixty-one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven pounds to the square inch. This, we may add, was the mean test of six samples. One hundred and fifty pounds pressure per square inch, if applied, say to a boiler forty inches in diameter, would exert a force of six thousand pounds. To sustain this pressure there would be half an inch of iron (one-fourth of an inch on each side), having a tensile strength, as shown by the above-mentioned test, of thirty thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight pounds. Deducting one-third for riveting, and another third for "additional safety," as per requirement of the law, we have ten thousand three hundred and nine pounds left, which represents the strength of the plate when placed in the boiler, from the inspector's standpoint. These figures show that, notwithstanding the liberal amount deducted for "additional safety," the boiler is capable of sustaining a pressure of four thousand pounds more than it is subjected to at a pressure of one hundred and fifty pounds to the square inch. Here is certainly a fair margin for safety. When the fact is also taken into consideration that nearly all of our boilers are made from iron 13-48 of an inch thick, it will be seen that a pressure of one hundred and fifty pounds to the square inch is not so dangerous as people have been led to believe.

If the boilers were made of perfect iron of the brand alluded to, and perfectly welded, they would sustain a pressure of thirty thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight and one-half pounds; owing to the fact that the plates are riveted, one-third is deducted, and another third is deducted to insure perfect safety. Thus we see that after the boiler has been inspected according to law, there remains strength sufficient to sustain a pressure of upwards of ten thousand pounds.

Some time ago a series of experiments were conducted under the supervision of a Committee appointed by the Franklin Institute for the purpose of determining the strength of boiler plates at different degrees of heat, with the following result. We submit the table for the examination of the curious in such matters.

At 32 degrees to 80 degrees the tenacity was 56,000 lbs, or 1-7th below its maximum.
At 570 degrees the tenacity was 66,500 lbs, its maximum.
At 1,050 degrees the tenacity was 32,000 lbs.
At 1,240 degrees the tenacity was 22,000 lbs.
At 1,317 degrees the tenacity was 900 lbs.
At 3,000 degrees iron becomes fluid.

In connection with this we will give the temperature of steam at different pressures, viz:

At 110 lbs. the temperature is 339.2 degrees.
At 120 lbs. the temperature is 345.8 degrees.
At 130 lbs. the temperature is 352.1 degrees.
At 140 lbs. the temperature is 357.9 degrees.
At 150 lbs. the temperature is 363.4 degrees.

It will be seen by reference to the above tables that iron is stronger, that is to say, it possesses greater tenacity at three hundred and sixty-three degrees than when cold; also that it begins to weaken only when subjected to a temperature of five hundred and seventy degrees. Accepting the above data as sufficient evidence, we may safely conclude that the amount of steam pressure heretofore allowed our towing boats—one hundred and fifty pounds to the square inch—is within the limits of safety.

Adopting the tensile strength of steel boilers as a standard, as determined by tests had in this city, we would have a total strength of thirty-nine thousand pounds in a forty inch boiler. Deducting one-third for riveting, and one-third for "additional safety," there would remain a strength of thirteen thousand pounds; double the amount required under the old law.

Now, concerning the loss of power incurred by the reduction of the pressure from one hundred and fifty to one hundred and twenty-five pounds per square inch. We find that the pressure exerted upon a cylinder head twenty-six inches diameter by one hundred and fifty pounds of steam, amounts to seventy-nine thousand six hundred and thirty-nine pounds; at one hundred and twenty-five pounds pressure, the pressure exerted upon the same cylinder head is sixty-six thousand three hundred and sixty-six pounds, showing an absolute loss of thirteen thousand two hundred and seventy-three pounds. In addition to this, there is the loss of the difference between the elastic force of steam at one hundred and fifty and one hundred and twenty-five pounds. This calculation, however, is for one cylinder only. All of our boats employ two cylinders; we double our figures, therefore, to arrive at the aggregate loss, which begins to assume considerable importance.

When it is borne in mind that these boats were constructed at considerable expense, built under the provisions of the then existing law, and in the confidence and belief that the steam pressure would remain the same, some of the hardships our commerce labors under will be rendered apparent to the least reflecting. And what renders the matter worse, it is practically impossible to change the machinery of the towing boats. In cases where changes can be effected, it can only be at great cost, in addition to a diminution in capacity.

It may be said that the above calculations are based upon a brand of iron possessing the greatest tensile strength. We will apply the same calculations to another brand, viz., the Sligo iron made by Lyon, Shorb & Co. The mean tensile strength of this iron, as determined from tests made at the Washington navy-yard, was found to be fifty-eight thousand two hundred and sixty-one pounds to the square inch. The highest of six tests showed a result of sixty-three thousand six hundred and seventy-four pounds to the square inch. We will take the lowest figures, and proceeding as before, we find that Sligo iron when manufactured into a boiler forty inches in diameter, possesses a strength of nine thousand seven hundred and ten pounds, after deducting two-thirds for riveting and "additional safety." Assuming that the plates are one-fourth of an inch thick, we find in this instance that the boiler will sustain a pressure of three thousand seven hundred and ten pounds more than the amount allowed for perfect safety.

From the foregoing, it will be apparent that the pressure of one hundred and fifty pounds heretofore allowed cylindrical boilers such as are employed upon the western and southern waters is perfectly safe. If anything more were required to substantiate the statement, it is to be found in the well attested fact that this amount of steam pressure has been employed for many years without a single accident of any importance resulting from it.

"A PECULIAR PEOPLE."

Late reports from Ireland represent considerable sections of the "Saintly Island" as disturbed and distracted by a revival of those peculiar methods by which a portion of the population have from old time been wont to express their discontent and to right their wrongs. The methods to which we allude cannot be said to be ever in abeyance. If only to keep the hands in a state of efficiency, or to prevent the entire cessation of wholesome dread, it is thought necessary there at short intervals to cut a policeman's throat, or to shoot a landlord from behind a hedge. The state of society in which such things occur is normal in the Holy Isle, as everybody knows, and therefore affords no occasion for comment. It is only when such occurrences rise above the common average that they are thought worthy of especial notice as indicating a heightened temper in the people. The unamiable demonstrations of which we hear at present are perhaps to be ascribed to the late trial in Dublin, which resulted in the acquittal of KELLY, the murderer of the policeman TALBOT. By the verdict in that case the people were impressively reminded of a truth with which they were of course quite familiar before, that when the Government is prosecutor no Irish jury will convict the accused, however strong or conclusive the evidence against him may be. Either sympathy for the culprit, that "fellow feeling which makes us wondrous kind," prompts the jury to declare him innocent, because they believe him excusable; or they are impelled to the same result by personal fear, intimidation not less terrible or effective because it may give no sign. In the knowledge that he is surrounded by sympathizers pledged by sentiment, if not by solemn oath, to protect him if possible while he lives, and to revenge his death, if death must come, the accused, however guilty, often bears himself before his accusers and judge with a careless confidence which may go far to assure even a hostile spectator of his innocence. The witnesses also, under the same influences which encourage the prisoner, and animated by the peculiar patriotism of the country, are in a good degree relieved of the embarrassment which ordinarily attends the utterance of falsehoods under oath, and deliver their perjuries with a grace at once pleasing and plausible. From such reports as we have seen, the evidence against KELLY was clear and in every sense complete, and yet he was not only acquitted, but was regarded and treated as a most meritorious person, who by his deed of blood had entitled himself to the gratitude of the Irish people. The newspapers praised him, and denounced his victim and his accusers, and money collections were taken up in his behalf, while very common expression was given to the hope that other spies like TALBOT might speedily meet with their KELLYS. Some of these details we derive from a letter addressed to a local German contemporary by KARL BLIND, the noted Baden revolutionist, now living as a political refugee in London. His own history imparts a certain interest to his estimate of the political judgment which regards such men as patriots and heroes. "Just so little," he says, "as BOOTH was a champion of liberty when he murdered noble LINCOLN, is KELLY, though he struck down a secret informer, to be held a representative of the cause of freedom, for the aims of the party which he served have nothing to do with the progress of humanity." BLIND then goes on to say that Irish discontent proceeds from a gloomy, bigoted hatred of religion and race. The historical allusions, therefore, of which Irish rhetoricians are so lavish in illustration of KELLY's act, the comparisons they institute between such exploits of their compatriots and the gallant blows for freedom struck in ancient and later times, are utterly irrelevant. From the spirit of HARMODIUS and ARISTOGITON, of BRUTUS, TELL and other champions of the class, such a deed as the one committed in Dublin was as remote and alien, as the Sunderbund priestly revolt in Switzerland, or the slaveholders' rebellion in the United States was remote and alien from the spirit of liberty.

The same well qualified correspondent also directs attention to the notorious fact, that in all the important English struggles for freedom, the Irish have always fought on the side of reaction, of political and spiritual bondage. It was so in the time of CHARLES THE FIRST, and again in the case of the later STUARTS. At the present day also the Irish agitators for home rule profess themselves vehement loyalists and disavow all sympathy for democracy. "If the laboring population of the English cities were to rise to-morrow," says Mr. BLIND, "the Irish would at once take their stand on the side of the crown, and would strive to secure for themselves their own Parliament and their own priestly administration at the cost of the prostration of the English democracy."

No candid or well informed man will deny that the Irish have been greatly oppressed by the English aristocracy, and no American may refuse them his sympathy in their just complaints. But illusions on the subject are good neither for them nor for us, and it would be well if positive knowledge could be made to take the place of much of the sentimentalism which has so long sufficed the American mind when Ireland was concerned. Under Mr. GLADSTONE's administration earnest efforts have been made and are making to remove the worst features of English rule in the island, and there is good reason to believe that the work of reform will be carried on to completion. In the meantime, the demonstrations of Fenianism, and other Hibernianisms in this country, with what we hear of doings in the island itself, well illustrate the difficulties of the ruler who endeavors to produce content in Ireland. The National Schools, so carefully adapted to the tastes and prejudices of the Catholics, and once so generally acceptable, are now a mere offense through the revival of ultramontanism, and not much is to be hoped for from their influence in effacing or counteracting those singularities and eccentricities of character which have so long made the Celts of Ireland a peculiar people.

THE ALDINE.

We have already more than once referred to the various admirable features of this handsome Monthly Fine Art Magazine, which, in some respects, especially those of artistic and typographical excellence, is without a rival in the country. The popularity which it has already obtained is creditable alike to the people of the country and to the publishers—to the latter for their effort to elevate the tone and standard of illustrated publications, and to the former for supporting them in so praiseworthy an undertaking. Model of excellence as during the past year it has been, a number of new and valuable features, to be introduced with the beginning of next year, will still further enhance its merit and increase its interest to all lovers of the pure in literature and the beautiful in art. The editorial conduct of the magazine is under the control of the graceful poet, Richard Henry Stoddard, who, during the coming year, will receive assistance from a host of the most popular writers and poets of the country, while the genius of the most eminent artists will be brought into requisition to still further enrich its pages. The COMMERCIAL has repeatedly directed attention to the unrivaled scenery of the United States. The fact that the delineation of the splendors and beauties of our own land—not in the form of mere sketches, but of careful and finished designs—will constitute a principal feature of the Aldine for the coming year is, therefore, every way gratifying. The Alleghenies, the Yosemite, the great plains, will all be treated in this way; besides which, character sketches and illustrations of popular poems will form a considerable part of the year's design. The volume for 1872 will contain about two hundred and fifty fine engravings. The popular feature of a chromo for every subscriber will also be maintained. We have received from the New York agent, W. T. Tuers, a specimen copy of the January number, which, whether mechanically or artistically considered, seems almost perfect. The agent is now in Pittsburgh, and will also receive orders for the magazine for the present year from all who desire to possess it, supplying them with all the numbers at once. The subscription price, with chromo, is five dollars a year. The office of the agent is at the St. Charles hotel.

ALL men, of course, have theories, but wise men generally relinquish them when they are found to come in conflict with the inexorable logic of facts. A writer in the New York Tribune, referring to the contrast exhibited in the administrations of both State and city, between Massachusetts and New York, attributes the purity which characterizes the former to the provisions which that State has woven into her Constitution. The proportion of foreigners in both States is the same, twenty-six per cent., while even in the two cities of New York and Boston there is but little disparity, the proportion being forty-two per cent. in the former and thirty-six per cent. in the latter; a difference by no means great enough to account for the wide difference in political results. The cause is claimed to lie in the fact that the laws of Massachusetts withhold the suffrage from paupers and vagabonds, and from emigrants naturalized for the occasion from those classes which are at war with society or dependent upon its forbearance and charity, while the Constitution of New York confers the suffrage on all these dangerous classes, and thus places them as tools in the hands of aspiring demagogues. No citizen can vote in Massachusetts until he has acquired a fixed home, resided a year within the State, six months within the precinct, and, if of foreign birth, been two years naturalized; besides which he is required to have paid some tax within two years, and to be able to write his name and read the constitution. Another provision, still more effective, makes it obligatory on the proper municipal officers, ten days before the general elections, to exhibit in some public place full lists of all citizens qualified to vote, in each ward and district, for public examination. In view of the fact that, although the dangerous classes are temporarily voted down in New York, the latent evil still remains uncorrected, working at the core, it would seem that some such permanent and self-defending plan will have to be adopted in that city.

JUST now the Democratic leaders and organs are engaged in the attempt to prove that the party is not dead, but how it can help dying is more than they can tell. The latest prescription is to run the poet Bryant for President. What has Mr. Bryant done that he should be thus treated?

GENERAL AND PARTICULAR.

The sub-Treasury at New York has adopted a system of crimping the paper on which checks are written, for the purpose of preventing alterations or forgeries. After the check is made out, it is passed through a small machine, which crimps or indents with parallel lines that portion of the paper on which the amount and figures are written. The result is that the paper cannot be written on a second time, nor can it be restored to its original condition.

The Detroit Tribune says that the amount of valuable timber destroyed by the recent fires in that State has been greatly exaggerated. In Huron, Sanilac, Midland, Tuscola and Isabella counties a large proportion of the forests have been destroyed; but this is not true of the vast bulk of the pine producing region which lies north of the counties named on the eastern side of the State. The destruction of pine, as a simple item by itself, and reckoned by the millions of feet, is large; but the amount, when compared with the wealth of forests still standing, is almost insignificant. One of the heaviest lumbermen in the State, who has been making thorough explorations, considers that it is a safe estimate and within bounds to say that not more than five per cent. of the standing pine timber in the State has been reached by fire, and of this amount he thinks that not more than one per cent. will be lost.

A Rome paper says that it is like old Babel now to saunter through the streets of that city; what with masons, scaffolding, time, bricks; engineers who make, unmake and remake, and a hundred different dialects. Those who talk most are Venetians. Those who speak loudest, Neapolitans. Those who say least, Piedmontese, for the trouble it gives them to speak well. The Lombards, who, since their dialect is Italianized, speak no more. The Sicilians, who speak with their fingers, eyes and chin. The Romagnols, who curse and swear, while the Tuscans chatter merrily, and the Romans look on with an eloquent smile.

An important decision as to the rights of railway stockholders in case of a consolidation with other roads, effected against their wishes, has just been rendered in the Virginia Supreme Court. The Court held that the complainant, who is a stockholder in a Southern railway, cannot be compelled to merge his stock in that of the company with which his road has consolidated.

A letter from Owsley tells the following queer story of the doings of a rattlesnake: "I went to my upper farm to see my tenant, and found him preparing to move. On inquiring the cause, he told me the house was haunted—some person swept it every night. He moved out, and I moved in—in order to dislodge the ghost, if possible. The third night, about midnight, the sweeping commenced. I arose from my bed as quick as I could, to get a light, and while I was getting a light the cat attacked the ghost and a fight commenced. The cat was whipped pretty quick. I ran in with the light, and there my eyes met a sight that made my blood run cold in my veins—the largest kind of a rattlesnake, in his coil, twisting and rattling at a fearful rate. He had sixteen rattles and one button."

On clear mornings now Venus presents a spectacle of extraordinary splendor and beauty. Now, while Venus is the morning star, the best view of this "sinfully scintillant planet" is to be obtained about six o'clock in the morning. Away high clear above the Eastern horizon, like a blazing silver cresset swung from the sky to light the pathway of the coming day, this gorgeous star now presents to us its beautiful crescent form. Seen through any good glass, it is an object of rare interest and beauty. All the other stars of night pale before the pure silver blaze of this lustrous crescent.

The excitement of the great Tichborne case has been fanned into a blaze in Australia by anecdotes and discoveries of all kinds and degrees. Everybody who knew anything of the claimant during his sojourn in the Colony rushes into print to furnish everybody else with the information. The last piece of intelligence comes from Wagga Wagga. The very identical pocket-book of Castro, alias Sir Robert Tichborne, has been brought upon the scene for the delectation of the curious. The news was hardly made public before there was a scramble for the book between the agents of the contestants. One of these offered a reward for the book, while the other threatened an action if the book was not given up.

A woman named Florence Cooper, the story of whose life reads like a romance, was sentenced to penal servitude for five years, in England, the other day. She is the daughter of a gardener, and when a girl was a domestic servant. When she became a young woman a nobleman placed her in a school in the name of the Hon. Miss Grey. After that she was presented at court, and then married to a gentleman named Baylis, who was worth a hundred thousand dollars. They lived unhappily together, and ultimately Mr. Baylis obtained a divorce. Some time after Mr. Baylis died, and a Mr. Cooper, said to be connected with some of the first families in the kingdom, and who was co-respondent in the divorce suit, married her. He had a large fortune, but it was entirely dissipated, and he is now in a madhouse. She has gone about plundering tradesmen, and representing herself to be connected with noble families, and is now the occupant of a felon's cell.

Contrary to the popular opinion that London is a vast sink of iniquity, statistics show it to be the most moral town in Great Britain, its habitual and suspected criminals being as one in 784, while in such towns as Bath, Leamington, Scarborough, and Ramsgate the proportion is one in 227, and in what are classed as agricultural towns, it is one in 433. In the eastern, midland and southern counties, the number of criminals is usually twice, and occasionally four times as great as in London. The rural villages are usually considered the homes of ideal purity and piety, yet, in comparison with them, London is twice as innocent, twice as healthy, and about four hundred times as charitable. This superiority in alms-giving seems to indicate a corresponding extent of pauperism, but benevolence, it is to be remembered, is more thoroughly systematized in London, while in the country there may be a great deal of want and suffering with very inadequate relief.

Representatives from the various mining districts of Great Britain held a conference in Manchester last week. The President of the National Association, in his opening address, characterized the whole system of inspection of mines as a deliberate and wilful farce, and urged that the conference should insist upon having certified managers in mines, that all mine-owners should be compelled to register the state of their mines every morning, and that efficient inspectors should be appointed. The "inspection of pits" was discussed at great length, and before the adjournment the conference decided to memorialise the Government to bring forward a Mines Regulation bill early next session.

The colonists at New Sweden, Maine, retain in their new home the costume of their native country. The dress of the men and boys resembles the costumes worn by our grandfathers, while the women and girls wear a plain, straight dress with short sleeves, a narrow apron, and upon the head a silk handkerchief folded and tied under the chin, and looking very odd, but pretty and comfortable. Both wear the national wooden shoes, with high heels and turned-up toes, and painted black. The children are dressed exactly like father and mother, and in the demure costume look like dwarfed editions of manhood and womanhood.

Peace and quietude have returned to the recently disturbed Creek Nation. The council convened a few days ago with a large accession of new members from the former dissatisfied faction. Nearly all seem well contented, and glad of the return of harmony. Since the agreement of Sands and Catchuchee to abide by the constitutional law, the latter has died. Before his death he told his followers that they were in the wrong, and that they must recognize Chicate as chief of the whole nation.

It is reported that the recent action of the German Reichstag, in prolonging the military budget on the war estimates, contemplates the speedy reoccupation of the French Departments by the Germans. Bismarck advocates this movement for the reason that he regards the authority of the Thiers Government as in a very precarious condition.

The Charges Against Gen. Schenck.

[From the New York Tribune.]

Nothing can excuse, nothing but the grossest ignorance can explain the assertion that this action is in violation of established precedents. It is notorious that there is hardly a representative from any Republican government in the world in this country but is actively engaged in advancing the interests of the great industrial enterprises of his own country. Mr. Munoz de Castro, Minister of Venezuela to the United States, was the head of a mercantile house in New York. General Herran, Minister Plenipotentiary of Honduras in Paris under the Empire, had a large mercantile establishment at Bordeaux. Gabriel Lafond, Minister of Costa Rica, was President of an insurance company in Paris. If it be objected that these are not American precedents, our Minister in Chili in 1863 was in charge of a mercantile house in Valparaiso, and Mr. Brent, our Chargé d' Affaires at Lima, was and still is engaged in business there. But the most eminent instance of this entire compatibility of public duty and private enterprise is the case of Gen. John A. Dix in Paris. This distinguished soldier and citizen was, during the whole period of his service as our Envoy, the President of a great railway corporation, and devoted much of his time and energies to advancing its interests in Europe.

The Columbus (Ohio) Journal says: "We will wager a horn spoon that General Schenck was named Director of the Mining Company without his knowledge or consent, or has already handed in his resignation as Minister. He intended to remain only one year abroad when he accepted the mission."

A Petrified Corpse.

In removing the bodies from the town line burial ground in the town of Wilson, near Lockport, New York, a few days ago, a singular discovery was made. The body of Mrs. Wilson, an aged lady, buried about forty years ago, was found to be complete in form and features, and perfectly petrified, while in the adjoining grave the remains of her husband, who was buried about the same time, were nearly extinct. Upon opening the coffin of Mrs. Wilson, the features were found perfect, but of a discolored, dingy appearance. In the operation of taking it out of the grave, one of the feet was broken off, showing the interior to be solid and white, hard and brittle as chalk. It was a hard lift for four men to raise the coffin out of the grave, and it was estimated to weigh from five to six hundred pounds. The body was removed and re-interred in Greenwood cemetery, as are all the bodies in that burial ground, in compliance with a recent act of the Legislature, under the supervision of the Commissioners.

FOLLOWING the example of New York, the city of Chicago is agitating for a radical reform in its municipal law. The present government of the city is divided into five branches, of whom the Mayor is the ornamental figure head, possessing—except in the approving of bills, signing warrants and pardoning prisoners from the city bridewell—very little more power than the janitor who sweeps out his office. In the new charter which the Legislature will be called on to provide, the dual system of legislation will probably be adopted, with a considerable enlargement of the powers and responsibilities of the Mayor. The present Board of Aldermen consists of forty members, elected from twenty wards. It is proposed to establish a Council of fifteen members, five from each division of the city, and to require that any act or ordinance shall pass both bodies before becoming a law. The new charter will also probably confer upon the Mayor the power to appoint or remove, with the concurrence of the Alderman, the members of the Board of Public Works, of Health, of Police, and of Education, and also to veto any bill passed by the Council, which in his judgment is objectionable. With such an enlargement of the functions of the Executive, it is safe to predict that the abuses which have crept into the various departments would have but a very short lease of life under the administration of the newly elected Mayor.

THE city of Louisville manufactures more plug tobacco than any other city in the United States, with the exception of Richmond, Virginia. While the general average increased production of tobacco in the United States during the past ten months of the present year is only ten per cent., in Louisville the increased production of manufactured tobacco amounts to 61 per cent., and of cigars 21 per cent., as compared with 1870.

PERSONAL.

The following pome, printed on white satin and mounted on heavy gilt rollers, will be handed to the happy holders of ball tickets on their arrival at the Academy of Music in New York:

All hail, gentle Prince, the fair land of the West,
Which welcomes all pilgrims from nations afar,
With tenderest feelings folds thee to her breast,
O, child of the Northland! O son of the Czar!

Thrice welcome! America's bird of the skies
Spreads her pinions to-day over Muscovy's heir;
Beside thy crowned eagle her bright banner flies
And the cheers of her people are filling the air.

'Tis not to thy title Americans bow—
No coronet dazzles the eyes of the West—
Though worthy we deem it to shine on thy brow,
And the homage we offer is truest and best.

But 'tis for the sake of thy father, our friend,
Our ally and strength in a perilous past,
And whose neighborly sympathy hastened the end
Which gave to the Union true freedom at last.

He rejoiced at our ultimate triumph o'er wrong;
He checked intervention with all its alarms,
And now, in his friendship confiding and strong,
Sends thee to Columbia's welcoming arms.

Remembering this, and his millions made free—
The serf's broken bond and the slave's shattered chain,
The new-born America honors, through thee,
That monarch so generous, just, and humane.

Close, then, let the twin eagles nestle to-day,
While the jealous world grimly their friendship beholds;
And well may their enemies gaze in dismay,
While the flag of the stars wraps them up in its folds.

And so long as our banner in glory shall shine,
It will flash thee a welcome from stripe and from star,
And Columbia's friendliest clasp shall be thine,
O child of the Northland. O son of the Czar!

Colonel Forney, when in Chicago a few days ago, was interviewed, and a report is going that he was sorry sometimes that he had ever accepted the Collectorship of the port of Philadelphia, not from any ill feeling toward the President, but because he believed his position of a journalist to be greater than that of the recipient of any gift in the disposal of the President.

It is reported that J. Edgar Thomson will shortly retire from the Presidency of the Pennsylvania Road, and be succeeded by Colonel T. A. Scott, and he succeeded in the Vice Presidency by Colonel A. K. McClure.

Mr. Sumner's winter's work will be in behalf of a speedy return to specie payments. In order in a measure to test the popular feeling on this question, he has had several conferences of late at his rooms in the Coolidge House in Boston with some of the most prominent financial men in New England; and recently—on last Saturday—at a private dinner of the Commercial Club, a powerful and influential organization, semi-social and semi-commercial, of about sixty of the leading merchants of that city, in which all interests and all shades of politics are represented, he developed his views concerning specie payments. The result was most satisfactory.

Hon. Alex. H. H. Stuart has published an article in a Virginia paper giving his views of the approaching Presidential struggle. He says the recent elections have shown that if the Southerners go into the contest under the present Democratic party organization they are doomed to inevitable and disastrous defeat; and he suggests a meeting of "the wisest and best men of every section" in Washington, in January, to take counsel with each other, and with Senators and Members, in regard to the wisest course to be adopted in the great crisis which is so near at hand. He thinks they ought to seek the cooperation of men like Schurz, Trumbull, Cox, Gratz Brown and Evarts, and he advises the union of all opponents of President Grant's Administration under the name of the Constitutional Party.

Of Lord Lytton Justin McCarthy, in a late London letter, says: It seems that besides a possible novel, we are certain to have from him a dramatized version of the "Last Days of Pompeii." I wonder it escaped the stage so long; and really it ought to make a fine drama, with a tremendously sensational scene at the close. Lord Lytton was often urged of late to write for the stage, but I believe he invariably answers the applications of managers by sending in a written drama, which he firmly maintains to be a masterpiece, but which proves an utter damper to the manager's zeal. This unappreciated production I have heard Lord Lytton once resolved to cherish at all risks—if the stage would not take it it would have nothing else. I am told that the drama itself was utterly hopeless—nothing could be done with it; and yet the author of the most successful pieces of our day prized it above his "Lady of Lyons" and "Richelieu." I suppose, however, that he has at last consented to allow the unperformed work to sink quietly out of sight. Few men have done more kindness in private life than Lord Lytton, or have done more kindly things. Whatever he writes is sure to be praised by the critics, because really every one likes him. You know how intimate was his friendship both with Dickens and Thackeray—a friendship, by the way, which much exasperated his wife. That genial lady once described Charles Dickens as a "pot-house Plutarch."

Rev. Dr. Ewer, of Christ Church, New York, an advanced ritualist, has with a pastor of his congregation left the Episcopal Church, and organized as a separate body. Dr. Ewer preached his first sermon under the new departure last Sunday. The services were conducted according to the most advanced forms of Ritualism, the edifice being darkened, and gas kept burning during the whole day. Tapers were also alight on the communion table, and a cross formed of gas jets glowed above. Nearly every portion of the service was intoned.

HEAVY forgeries to a large amount in Boston are described as "financial irregularities," which is not quite as gingerly as calling the theft of $100,000 a "remissness." How the English language is becoming diluted! Or is it our moral ideas?

We, the undersigned, Board of School Directors for the Fifth ward School, Allegheny City, having had E. BOURNE'S LOW PRESSURE SELF-REGULATING STEAM HEATING APPARATUS in our School House for the past three winters, and after being thoroughly tested, we are glad to say that it has given entire satisfaction to all concerned in every particular. The heat produced is extremely pleasant, and renders the rooms throughout the building at an even temperature. The consumption of fuel economical, requiring but a small amount of attention, and during the coldest weather we have no trouble in warming the house to a desirable temperature. It is perfectly safe from explosion, and we unhesitatingly recommend it to those having charge of Schools, Academies, Public Buildings or Dwellings of any size or dimensions.

GOOD GOODS,
AT LOW PRICES.

The prevalent idea that Goods of a superior quality, or what is generally called a "good article," can only be had by paying a very high price, is not the fact, as hundreds of Ladies can testify who have purchased their Dry Goods from us.

Selling only for Cash and at One Price, our large trade enables us to offer every class of Goods in all the departments at such a small advance on the first cost that customers at first hearing the price are apt to associate it with an inferior quality, owing to their having had to pay as much for such.

We take pleasure in asking Ladies to examine our Stock, which for variety and extent is not surpassed in the city, while the price on every article, from the lowest to the best quality, is uniformly cheap.

Every Lady is assured of courtesy and attention, whether she purchases or not

FINANCE AND TRADE

TUESDAY EVENING, November 28, 1871.

We have the first returns to-day from the late shipment of coal to Cincinnati, and a slim return it is. One of our coal men reports five hundred dollars cash, and paper at thirty, sixty and ninety days for the balance of a lot of thirty barges of coal. Some few barges that first arrived were sold at thirteen cents, but the price was put up to fourteen, at which our Cincinnati friends growled amazingly, but they more than make up for the difference in the time they gain. At such a time as just past, when the stock in the market was very low and the yards all empty, where could the capital of the coal dealers at Cincinnati be invested, and why was it they were unable to pay cash for a new stock? We are almost constrained to believe that they have no capital, and are mainly doing business on Pittsburgh capital. Thus our coal men are expected to run all the risks of transportation, and have their money locked up in stocks or long credits in the lower river cities, while they are re-loading for the next rise, and even be abused, as they were of late, for asking a fair profit on their investments. In fact, we are informed, that but three or four of the coal firms of Cincinnati are able to pay any cash for coal. One of these has a Pittsburgh partner who backs him, while another is partner of one of the leading banking firms there, and can thus make his own terms. The relief, therefore, so frequently talked of to our local money market from the coal shipment, and which promised at first so encouragingly, will not have much immediate effect in raising the market. The only result will be that the coal men will take up their own paper with that of Cincinnati dealers, which will be paid as it matures through the winter, thus gradually bringing the money back to local channels.

—There was rather a light discount business to-day at many of the banks. Not because applicants for money were scarce, but many of the banks report themselves poor. Very close discrimination is made in the choice of paper, and where the borrower accompanies his application with some sound collateral in the shape of government, State or municipal bonds, or some dividend paying stock, there is no trouble in getting money. Bank officers readily appreciate the difference between some tangible and productive security for money loaned, than the mere promise to pay, which so frequently means payment when convenient and renewal at pleasure. There is occasionally some inquiry for paper from country banks, who prefer the notes of our substantial manufacturing firms to anything they can get at home. These banks are high in their rates: twelve per cent. being the common figure, yet they get a good deal of first class paper during a money pinch.

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, TUESDAY, November 29, 1871.

REMARKS—The market was entirely devoid of activity, showing but few signs of life. Dealers appear as wide apart in their views as ever. This has been the situation for some time. The next question is, when will there be an improvement or a revival of trade? This, however, is easier asked than answered. Prices are nominal and just now very uncertain.

CRUDE.

The asking rates for the raw material were as follows: Spot 10½c; November 10½c; S. O. all year 10½c; B. O. all year 10½c. We did not learn of any transactions in this market. Dealers seem to have confined their operations to the oil regions.

REFINED.

The dullness we have before noted continues. Buyers are not disposed to pay the rates that are demanded, and on the other hand holders are not inclined to make any further concessions. We quote: Spot 21c; November 21c; December 21½c; January, 1872, 21½c. These prices include freight east.

New York Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, November 28.—The demand is limited to the urgent necessities of trade, but the firmness of raw materials prevents any declension in the prices of goods which are imperishable; while fancy and thin fabrics, in order to wind up accounts, are selling at rates which net owners a loss. In cotton goods there is no particular change to observe; the demand is moderate and prices are steady at 11½c for fancy prints, 20c for best delaines, 22½c for Imperial repps, 12½a13c for heavy brown sheetings, 14a14½c for best brown drills, 80c regular for best six cord spool cotton thread, 55c for No 53 worsted braids, and 85c for Goff's and other makes of alpaca do.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, TUESDAY EVENING, November 28, 1871.

Cattle.

The arrivals of cattle this week to this time have been light. The number of buyers in attendance was fair. The advices from both Philadelphia and New York markets are bad, in consequence the feeling is not good, and but very few cattle are selling. What few sales have been made were of the medium and common grades of cattle, and were bought by country dealers. As yet, it is hard to give prices, as shippers of heavy cattle have not purchased a bullock, and say that if they do, it will be at figures fully one-half lower than last week.

The following are the prices at which sellers are holding stock: Extra, 1,200 to 1,500 steer, $5 50 to $5 75; good to prime, 1,100 to 1,200, $4 75 to $5 25; common to medium, 1,000 to 1,100, $4 00 to $4 50; bulls, stags and cows, 800 to 1,500, $2 50 to $3 50; Texas steers, $3 00 to $3 50.

Hogs.

The arrivals of hogs to-day fair, and in quality about the same as the offerings usually are. The supply on sale is greater than the demand, and there are some hogs in the pens that have been here for a week, the owners holding for better prices. The market rules slow, though prices are a shade better than last week, but no improvement is looked for until the pens become better cleaned out. The following are the rates current for the different grades: Extra Philadelphia, $4 40; good to prime, Philadelphia, $4 25a4 30; good to prime New York, $4 05a4 10; rough to common, $4.

Sheep.

The arrivals of sheep this week were light to this time. The demand is fully up to the supply, and the feeling of Philadelphia buyers is a little better. Prices are a shade higher, with a better feeling ruling. At this time the prospect for the balance of the week looks fair. The following are the rates ruling for the different kinds and grades as bought and sold here: Extra, 100 to 110 lbs, $5 65a5 80; good to prime, 85 to 90 lbs, $5 25a5 40; decent to fair, 75 to 80 lbs, $4 50a5 00; mean to common, 70 to 75 lbs, $4 00a4 25.

New York Finance and Trade.

Gold Closed at 110⅜@110½.

NEW YORK, November 28—P. M.

GOLD

Gold dull and weak, opening at 110⅝, and closing at 110⅜a110½. This weakness was caused by the fact that bankers who have sent to Washington five-twenties of '62, called in for redemption on December 1st, will to-morrow receive Treasury gold checks, payable December 1st, to the amount of six millions, that amount having been already examined and counted by the Department at Washington. Loans were made at from 1a4 ⅌ cent. for carrying. Clearings $16,750,000.

MONEY.

Money this morning was active at 7 ⅌ cent., but the Washington news caused an easier feeling, the closing rate being 5 ⅌ cent.

EXCHANGE.

Sterling exchange quiet at 109.

GOVERNMENTS.

Governments weak and lower at the close owing to the fact that the Government accepted none of the offers to sell 5-20s, as they were all considered to be above par in gold. The press says the refusal of Boutwell to purchase any bonds created considerable dissatisfaction among parties who put in proposals. The price of gold at noon was 111, and the Government could have selected bonds at that price and under from among the proposals, but the Secretary took the price of gold at a later hour as his standard.

STOCKS.

Stocks opened dull and steady, but became strong on the news from Washington above referred to, and were firm at the close, when the entire list advanced ⅛ to 1 per cent. from the lowest point of the day. The advance was most marked in Pittsburgh, Ohio, Northwest, Rock Island, Western and Western Union. The current of speculation on the Stock Exchange seems to have changed from Bear to Bull.

Boats Departing This Day.

Brownsville and Geneva—Morning boat 8 A. M., evening 5 P. M.

Argosy—Goodwin, 3 P. M.

THE marks last evening indicated five feet six inches and rising slowly. The weather during the day was raw and winterish. Trade on the landing was brisk. A liberal amount of Pittsburgh manufactures was shipped.

THE towboat Comet, Captain J. M. Hare, will have dispatch for Cairo and St. Louis.

THE towboat Wild Duck and barges have arrived. They left here last April for St. Louis.

THE packet Juniata, Capt. C. S. Brennan, will leave for Cincinnati on Thursday, her regular day.

THE departures include the Julia No. 2 for Zanesville, and the Arlington for Cincinnati.

THE Wild Duck and barges brought up one of the largest tows of iron this season.

THE steamer Exchange, Captain Evans, left here at daylight yesterday for St. Louis, with all the freight she wanted, and engagements below.

THE Wheeling packet for this day is the steamer Argosy, Captain B. F. Goodwin, leaving at 3 P. M. The first clerk is our attentive friend Charles B. Russell.

BROWN & JONES's coal tug Little Giant caught fire, at two o'clock Saturday morning, while lying idle at Memphis. The after part of the upper works were destroyed. The flames were subdued. Damage $1,000, and fully covered by insurance.

JEFFERSON DAVIS was the first lumberman upon Wisconsin waters. He and his men did their first cutting on Red Cedar river, a tributary of the Chippewa, where the village of Menomonee now stands.

THE United States mail packets on the slackwater leave daily at 8 A. M. and 5 P. M. These boats are all side-wheelers, and are in charge of careful and attentive officers. For further information inquire of Captain A. S. Carlile, on the wharfboat.

THE light-draught steam propeller Sea Gull, Capt. James Ecker, will leave on Friday, the first day of December, for Wheeling, Parkersburg, Cincinnati, Louisville and all intermediate landings. For freight apply on board.

THE far-famed Pittsburgh and Cincinnati packet Juniata, Captain C. L. Brennan, takes her departure on Thursday for Wheeling, Marietta, Parkersburg and Cincinnati. This boat is noted for fine speed, superior accommodations and attentive officers.

SAMUEL C. HARRISON died at the residence of his son, John W. Harrison, in Cairo, on October 18th, aged seventy-two years. For over forty years he followed the rivers, and was known by almost every river man from the upper Missouri to New Orleans.

ST. LOUIS, November 26.—Captain J. B. Coulson and J. E. Earl, pilot of the Far West, arrived to-day by rail from Sioux City, and leave this evening for Pittsburgh. The engineers of the Nellie Peck, and parts of the crews of several other upper Missouri boats, are in the city, on their way home to Pittsburgh and elsewhere. The thaw which set in yesterday still continues.

CAPT. JOHN B. DAVIS proposes to put a boat in the trade from Searcy, Arkansas, to Memphis, and make weekly trips, if shippers will guarantee to give him their cotton at $1 50 per bale. The Adams line charges $2 00 per bale. At Augusta the merchants held a meeting, offering their cotton at $1 50, and other freight at reasonable rates, to any boat that would agree to take it at that rate through the season.

CINCINNATI.—Monday's Commercial says: Captain George W. Neare received a dispatch late Saturday night, stating that the H. S. Turner, bound from New Orleans to Cincinnati with a valuable cargo of sugar, molasses, &c., had struck a snag in the Mississippi, near Vicksburg. The dispatch did not state the amount of damage, however. The Turner passed Vicksburg at ten o'clock Saturday night, and as Captain Rusk telegraphed Captain Neare to meet him at Memphis, the Turner is doubtless proceeding with her trip.

CAPTAIN S. DEWOLF, Commissioner elect, at Pomeroy, having purchased into the Oriole with the understanding he was to command her, declined to qualify as Commissioner. The United States steamboat laws require the Captain to be on board constantly, thus preventing his attendance to the first office. The law provides that the vacancy shall be filled by the Auditor, Probate Judge and Recorder. Dr. J. R. Philson, of Racine, was chosen to fill the vacancy.

The Ku-Klux Trials—Gov. Scott's Message to the General Assembly—The State Debt—Suspension of Habeas Corpus, &c.

CHARLESTON, S. C., November 18.—In the Ku-klux trials at Columbia, to-day was spent in the discussion of the manner of selecting the jury, the District Attorney moving that the panel be summoned from the body of the district, and Reverdy Johnson contending that according to the Constitution jurors must be summoned from the Judicial District in which the alleged offense was committed. The Court sustained the District Attorney, Mr. Johnson reserving his objection. The Court adjourned until Friday, allowing forty-eight hours for summoning the panel.

The General Assembly met at Columbia to-day, when Governor Scott's message was read. The Governor states the whole public debt to be $11,994,908, which statement he knows from severe personal scrutiny to be correct, nothing being suppressed. He argues that the depreciation of the State credit is due to the persistent threats of repudiation made by individuals and the press for political purposes, without which the debt would not exceed ten millions, and he is confident that the State will pay all her obligations to the last cent, and recommends that the Legislature prohibit the borrowing of money or contracting of a debt to meet current expenses, and condemns extra sessions of the Legislature, without which the attacks of opposition could not be successful. He urges the Legislature to make the session short and economical, and recommends that a fixed salary instead of a per diem be given to members of the Legislature, and that numerous offices be abolished; that the salaries of all officials, except judges, be reduced one-third; that a license system be adopted, and that rice, cotton and railroad tonnage be taxed; that the bonds of the State be taken at par in payment for land bought at tax sales, on title being warranted by the State; that public lands to the value of one million dollars be sold and State bonds taken in payment.

He reviews at length the causes which led him to ask the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, as under the Ku-klux law, he claims that conciliation proved useless and the courts would not act, and that the whites mistook magnanimity for weakness. He declined to call out the militia, because it consisted of negroes who would have been slaughtered, and the people led to believe that the conflict was between negroes and whites instead of between the friends of the government and its enemies. So late as last spring many prominent citizens promised him their co-operation in the suppression of Ku-kluxism, but they effected nothing, and the civil powers being exhausted the Governor applied to the National Government to protect the State against domestic violence. He approves of the principle of a minority representation, and advises changes in the election law so as to prevent fraud, and urges the Legislature to avoid all unnecessary appropriations, and believes the Legislature will so act as to prove that republicanism and good government in South Carolina are not, as is falsely alleged, inconsistent with each other.

The message was made the special order for Monday next. A number of bills will be introduced looking to retrenchment and reform; but none on the subject of repudiation.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, November 28, 1871.

MEETING OF THE COMMITTEE OF SEVENTY.

At a meeting of the Committee of Seventy to-night, the resignation of Henry G. Stebbins, recently appointed Commissioner of Parks, and General Barlow, chosen State Attorney General, were accepted. Hon. William F. Havemyer was chosen Chairman, and James M. Brown Vice Chairman. The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That for the purpose of securing to the people of this city the substantial fruits of their victory in the late election over corruption, this Committee propose to use every lawful effort to secure at the earliest possible moment the removal of the present Mayor from the office he holds; recalling the fact that it was he who aided in devising in the interests of corruption the present iniquitous charter and the plot for robbing the treasury of the city by audit of false and fraudulent vouchers; that it was he who filled various responsible offices and departments with men who have now been condemned by the verdict of the people; that it was he who, having the sole power of appointing inspectors and poll clerks, filled these offices generally with Tammany Democrats and Tammany Republicans, meaning to rob the honest citizens of their suffrages, and when an honest man was duly appointed Deputy Controller, used his whole power and influence to prevent him entering upon the duties of that office, and that he has endeavored at every step to thwart and defeat the efforts of the people to discover and punish those who have been engaged under his auspices in plundering the City Treasury, we demand his immediate resignation.

Resolved, That if the Mayor shall continue to defy the press and the will of the people, and shall persist in retaining his official position, the Committee on Legislation be instructed to prepare and present to the Legislature, immediately on its meeting, an act which shall be sufficient and effectual to remove him at once, without waiting for the completion of the new charter or other remedial measures.

A VALID MARRIAGE.

In the Supreme Court to-day, Judge Spencer decided that a marriage followed by cohabitation of the parties, and mutual acknowledgment as husband and wife, is a valid marriage according to the laws of this State.

ALEXIS LIONIZED.

The reception of the Grand Duke and the officers of the Russian fleet to-night, by the navy yard officers, was a grand affair. From nine till twelve carriages extended continuously from Fulton ferry to the gate of the yard, nearly two miles. Persons were kept waiting from three to four hours before reaching the ball room. Alexis arrived at 10:30, with Admiral Poisset and Minister Catacazy. On entering the ball room a general rush was made to get near him. He was conducted to a raised dais in the center of the room, where were standing Mrs. Admiral Smith and Madame Catacazy, Alexis, Admiral Possiet and Minister Catacazy, who went through the ordeal of having the ladies and gentlemen introduced. Alexis led Mrs. Admiral Smith to the supper room. The Duke wore the uniform of a naval lieutenant, and took the lionizing coolly. He danced several times with Mrs. Admiral Smith, and afterwards with younger ladies. Julien conducted the music, and played the Russian hymn on the entrance of the Prince.

TOED THE LINE.

Secretary Boutwell said to-day that in the negotiation of the new loan he strictly followed the line laid down in his circular of August 10th. He denies having violated the law, which authorized the payment of half of one per cent. as expenses of disposing of the loan, and says after paying for the engraving and printing of the bonds, the compensation of agents will not amount to one-fourth of one per cent. While the ninety days time allowed to banks to subscribe gave bank depositors pecuniary advantages, the Government did not pay a cent more than if the money had been deposited in the treasury proper, where it would have lain idle.

THE LEAVENWORTH AND DENVER NARROW GAUGE.

THE YERKES' CASE.

Important Meeting of Creditors.

A meeting of the creditors of Charles T. Yerkes, Jr. & Co., was held in Philadelphia last Saturday evening, at which the Chairman of the Committee appointed to investigate the affairs of the firm, reported that from the facts before them they considered Mr. Yerkes' offer of thirty per cent. cash, and the balance in notes for one, two and three years, to be an advantageous one to all the creditors; while it was possible that the total assets of the estate would exceed the thirty per cent. of debts, yet a large proportion of them would be involved in hazardous litigation, and the expenses and delays of bankruptcy would probably cause a loss far more than could be gained by any such proceedings; that in the present aspect of the case it is decidedly to the interest of the creditors to accept of Mr. Yerkes' proposition. It was therefore suggested that an agreement meeting the views of the creditors be prepared and signed by such as were willing, so that when the committee were prepared to act further they might have some assurance as to the assent of the creditors. The report was unanimously adopted, and a bound agreement embodying its substance was signed by all present. It was stated that efforts had been made to cover the city and State in respect to their claims. The State Treasurer as yet has taken no legal steps, and Mr. Swoope, his counsel, states that the creditors will have an opportunity to make an arrangement. If a satisfactory one is made Mr. Mackey will not file a petition in bankruptcy.

Another Family Poisoned in Cumberland County, Pa.

We learn from the Harrisburg Telegraph that last week the wife and two grandchildren of Alex. Logan, residing above Carlisle, were poisoned by a colored woman in the employ of the family. One of the parties died from the effects, and the party charged with the crime was committed to prison at Carlisle on Saturday to await a trial.

STATE NEWS.

The Kennett Leader says that the Board of School Directors of Unionville, Chester county, none of whom take the papers, and therefore knew nothing about the Governor's thanksgiving proclamation, issued a proclamation of their own, and closed their schools for thanksgiving on Monday, the 13th inst.

An old Erie toper, whose wits have not quite been drowned in bad whisky, upon being asked what was the surest sign of a fine day, said that his getting gloriously drunk was, for the police were sure to lock him up, and the next morning was always a "fine day" for him, generally about two dollars fine and costs.

A German, named Charles Banks, who was last week convicted of murder in the second degree in the Montgomery county Court of Quarter Sessions, and sentenced to eleven years and eleven months imprisonment, has refused to eat anything since. His reason for doing so is, as he says, that he is to be hung, and he cannot be persuaded otherwise.

The Somerset Herald says: Some ten days ago an Irishman, a laborer on the Salisbury Railroad, was found frozen to death on the bridge near Livengood's mill, in Elklick township, with two-thirds of a bottle of legalized whisky in his pocket. He was thrown into a cart and toted off to the burial ground by the hands without an inquest being held.

There were 175 eight-wheeled cars of live stock shipped over the Lebanon Valley Railroad in one day recently for New York. This was the largest amount shipped in a single day since the road was built. The live stock trade on the Lebanon Valley is increasing very fast.

Our exchanges speak of a new swindling game, which consists in an agent calling at a house and displaying a number of sealed envelopes containing samples of silk, merino, calico, &c., collecting twenty-five cents for a choice, and promising to send a dress pattern like the sample in the envelope chosen for the small sum of one dollar, but neither man or dress are ever seen afterwards.

The Ebensburg Herald is informed that capitalists from New York have been prospecting and leasing land in the vicinity of Carrolltown for the purpose of erecting furnaces for the manufacture of iron, &c. A four foot vein of iron ore is said to have been found. If the weather proves favorable the work of erecting suitable buildings will be commenced this winter.

The manufacturers of Delaware county are circulating petitions asking the Legislature to exempt from taxation as real estate machinery in their mills. The alleged inequality is that a renter has no such tax to pay, but if operated by the owner he pays as though the entire property were real estate.

A short time since a married woman in the upper portion of the city, says the Harrisburg Patriot, was taken very ill—so sick that she feared speedy death was inevitable. While in this condition her mind was greatly troubled by an occurrence which had taken place about a year and a half before, which she had concealed from her husband because of the scandal she feared would result from its revelation. A few days ago she felt as if she could not die peacefully unless she informed her husband of this secret, and to ease her mind she told him that in the year 1870 a man committed a rape on her. Prosecution was promptly instituted and the alleged perpetrator of the outrage committed to prison. The case not coming up for trial at this court $800 bail for defendant's appearance at the January sessions has been required.

The house of an aged couple, Keefer by name, aged eighty-two and eighty-three, respectively, residing in Greenville township, Somerset county, was burned to the ground several days ago. The old man had gone into the neighborhood to work, leaving his aged wife at home, busily engaged in knitting. A little girl, some four or five hundred yards distant, saw flames bursting forth from the roof, when she began waving a red handkerchief to attract the attention of a daughter of the aged couple, that lived within sight, just on the hill. Failing in her purpose, she ran to the house, but before she reached it the roof had fallen in, and the old lady, not being aware of the great danger surrounding her, was quietly knitting by the stove. In a few minutes the house was burned to the ground, and but very little of its contents were saved; and had it not been for the timely appearance of the girl, the old woman, beyond a doubt, would have perished in the flames.

Says the Scranton Republican: That noble specimen of Democratic jurist—Judge Ben Pfouts—is again being "served-up" by the newspapers throughout the State. The readers of those papers had him roasted some time ago, and now they are having him hashed. It is due to Judge Pfouts that a correction be made by the newspapers who are doing him up. It now appears that Ben. Dilley did not pay him $150 in cash for his license—Ben. only gave him $130 in cash, and credited him $20 on an old whisky bill. This is an important correction, and should be made promptly, in order that our courts, in which he occupies a seat on the bench, may not be disgraced!

The Lewisburg Chronicle says that the parents of Victoria Woodhull at one time kept tavern on Chestnut Ridge, in Snyder county. Victoria's mother was a Rosanna Hummel, and was born about three miles from New Berlin. In 1836 she married Backman Claflin, a Yankee from Bradford county, and after a short residence at Chestnut Ridge moved to Ohio, where Victoria was born.

A BULLY TIME.

Allegheny Policemen Chased by a Bull.

The bull is larger than the lamb, and when bent on a little exercise it is proportionately more general in its quality. The police of Allegheny, to the number of half a dozen, had quite a lively time yesterday with a lively bull. There exists an ordinance in the city code of Allegheny which provides for the arrest of all animals found running at large, and the policeman making the arrest of a law breaker of this kind reaps a larger reward than he does from bringing in a common drunk.

About one o'clock yesterday morning officer Cowley, of Mayor Callow's police, discovered a bull of extensive dimensions perambulating about North avenue in a careless kind of manner. He made up his mind that it was his duty as a guardian of the law to take the aforesaid bull by the horns and place him in durance, if not vile, at least secure. Boldly did Mr. Cowley march up to the animal as if to throw a halter round its neck, but the bull differed with Mr. Cowley and made at him. He ran and the bull followed and was gaining rapidly, when Mr. Cowley sought refuge in a very narrow private alley, where he knew the animal could not enter. Once in the bull followed, but he only got as far as his shoulders, when, doubtless discovering that to secure the officer it would be necessary to remove one of the buildings, it walked away disgusted. It meandered toward Ohio street and thence made its way toward West Park. When near the Penitentiary the bull was discovered by Officer Noble and another policeman and the two bravely proceeded to arrest the animal. This, however, was not so easily done and the fact became apparent to the guardians of the peace as the animal lowered its head and pursued the now terrified officers. Over the fence they jumped into the park with the bull close at their heels. One of the men found refuge by suddenly climbing a tree, while the other boldly waded into the lake and swam over to the little island, where the swans were quartered. The bull stood its ground, and the officers equally well maintained theirs. Subsequently officers Swearingen, Cornelius and others came along, but none of them proved equal to the emergency, when the animal, tired of its sport, hopped off to more congenial quarters at a fair rate of speed.

OHIO RIVER IMPROVEMENT.

Meeting of Citizens Last Night.

Resolutions Adopted Looking to the Improvement of the River.

Addresses by Hon. F. R. Brunot, W. W. Martin, W. J. Kountz, J. T. Stockdale and James Rees—The Steamboat Law Discussed—A Bill to Be Presented to Congress for Its Repeal.

Last evening a citizens' meeting was held in City Hall for the purpose of taking action relative to the improvement of the Ohio river. The meeting was attended by our most prominent business men, manufacturers and merchants, and all present appeared greatly interested in the proceedings. The several addresses were listened to with the greatest attention, and the speakers were frequently applauded.

The meeting was called to order at quarter to eight o'clock by the Mayor, who stated that he had called the meeting at the instance of a number of business men, merchants and manufacturers of this city, for the purpose of taking some action relative to the improvement of the Ohio river, and also to get the obnoxious parts of the steamboat law repealed. The Mayor then read the call as already published.

THE ORGANIZATION.

The meeting was organized by the election of the following officers:

PRESIDENT—Hon. Felix R. Brunot.

VICE PRESIDENTS—Messrs. Jacob Reese, Wm. J. Kountz, James Parke, W. W. Martin, James Reese, J. T. Stockdale, D. W. C. Carroll and Wm. B. Hunter.

SECRETARIES—Reporters of the press.

ADDRESS OF THE CHAIRMAN.

Hon. Felix R. Brunot, upon taking the chair, said: I thank you, gentlemen, for the honor you have conferred upon me in calling me to preside over this meeting. But I am not exactly familiar with the object of calling the meeting; I mean I do not know what definite proposition may be brought before you. I conceive that, as to the general purpose of the call, it would be impossible to suggest any movement connected with the business of the country which is of more absolute importance to this community than the improvement of the Ohio river. And in saying this, I do not mean to commit myself before my fellow citizens as one who intends to join them in any effort to secure the continuance of the past system which has been in vogue in reference to this stream.

Although many natural highways of the world have been improved, the primitive mode of operating the Ohio river is still in existence. In all other countries but ours—in all civilized countries, greater attention has been paid to the improvement of the streams than in this country. While we have neglected the improvement of the Ohio, we have not been behind in the smaller streams of the country. There is no reason why we should not devote our energies to procuring such an improvement of the Ohio as will be as far superior to the existing mode as the present navigable condition of the Monongahela is superior to what it was before the Navigation Slack Water Company was organized.

I hope the object of the meeting is to endeavor to influence the Congress of the United States to adopt some radical mode of improvement for the river, and to rise to the requirement of the times, and to make an appropriation adequate to the performance of this improvement. If such an appropriation cannot be procured, then I should favor the assumption on the part of the State of Pennsylvania of the authority which I think justly belongs to her, of controlling all the upper part of the Ohio—the part within her limits. I would ask our Legislature to assume that control, and ask them to invite the private enterprise of our citizens to improve the Ohio, and to shame Congress into improving the remainder.

ADDRESS OF CAPT. W. W. MARTIN.

At the conclusion of the address of the Chairman, Capt. Martin was called upon for a speech. He said he felt a great interest in the improvement of the Ohio river. Many present could remember the time when a regular line of packets plied between this city and Cincinnati, making daily trips. In addition to this, there was a line of boats to Beaver, Wellsville, Wheeling, Marietta, Portsmouth, St. Louis, Louisville, and other points. Where are these boats now? The coal men have, by the force of circumstances, been compelled to build tow-boats, in order to transport their coal. These boats are bringing an immense trade to the city. But how much would this trade be increased if the Ohio were improved? It requires but a glance to see what an immense loss this city annually sustains by the non-improvement of the Ohio river. There has only been one run of coal since last May. The river here is covered with coal. There is not a man, woman or child who does not feel in a measure the loss that is incurred by having so much money invested without producing anything, and by this stoppage of river transportation. All of this can be obviated by the improvement of the river. A rise in the river occurs about once in three months. There is then a spasmodic effort made to run as much coal as possible, and then the river is blocked and many accidents occur.

In addition to this the steamboat interest is stifled by the outrageous laws that have been enacted against them. This city should turn out not less than one hundred steamers a year, which would give employment to thousands of mechanics, all of whom are now cut off by want of water and the iniquitous steamboat law. About fifteen years ago lines of steamers were plying in this river, carrying high steam, and there never was an explosion, because a man at that time did business on his reputation. The speaker never employed an engineer unless he had first learned that he was qualified. There is no reason why that state of things should not exist now. But it does not, which causes this drawback. The speaker then closed his remarks by saying that there was one thing he could not enlighten them on, as they surely were aware of it, that the Ohio river improved, and the Pittsburgh, Virginia and Charleston Railroad completed, this city will enjoy a very large commerce.

COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS APPOINTED.

The Chairman here suggested that a committee be appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting. The suggestion was acted upon, and a committee of three, consisting of Messrs. W. W. Martin, W. J. Kountz and James Parke, were appointed.

ADDRESS OF CAPT. J. T. STOCKDALE.

Capt. Stockdale was the next speaker. He said he was not prepared to make any remarks, as his time had been employed for several days past in preparing a bill as a substitute for a bill passed in Congress, for the improvement of the western rivers. The bill as already enacted contains seventy-one sections, where the section winds up with $500 fine, one-half to go to the informer, for the infringement of any of its sections. It is not possible for any steamboat to be fitted out, that in its outfit alone proceedings cannot be instituted according to this bill.

The first step necessary for this city, and every city interested in the rivers and lakes, should lend their efforts to have this obnoxious bill repealed. What would be the condition of the city of Pittsburgh if this highway is closed. This city is within the grasp of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. This company first acquired the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad, and lately the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad. The interests of this company are in the east and they can discriminate between the eastern and the western States and leave this city out in the dark. If this river be trammeled, this city will find itself at the mercy of this corporation. If you will look back and see the discrimination that has already been made, it should inspire Pittsburgh to renewed efforts to prevent any further discrimination. According to the present bill, the motive power of the boats is reduced thirty-three per cent., which is of incalculable damage to the interests of coal men. The speaker hoped the meeting would take definite action in this important matter.

ADDRESS OF JOSIAH COHEN.

Mr. Cohen was next called upon, and made a brief address. He said he was not professionally connected with the river interests, but attended the meeting as a citizen, as he was deeply interested in this movement. It is a remarkable fact in the political history of the country that some action has not already been taken in this city in reference to this matter. It is the duty of the members of Congress to listen to the demands of the citizens of this city. There is no doubt but that the very life blood of this city and other western cities depends upon the improvement of the Ohio.

The first great object of this meeting should be to demand that our representatives should pay special attention to the wants of the people in reference to this subject. I have great esteem for the members we have elected. I know no representative who is better able to give this matter proper attention than Hon. James Negley. You should appoint a committee to wait on him, and state to him the action of this meeting. My heart is in your cause, because, as a thinking man, I know nothing better could be done by Congress which would render a hasty benefit on the citizens than to acquiesce in your petition.

ADDRESS OF CAPT. W. J. KOUNTZ.

W. J. Kountz was next called upon, and spoke in substance as follows:

I am prepared to say there has never been a meeting of greater interest, of more importance to the citizens of Pittsburgh, to the merchants, manufacturers, and even to the men who pound upon the anvil, than this present one. It is a fact that our commerce to-day is in a worse condition than any city in the United States of the magnitude of Pittsburgh. God has given Pittsburgh advantages that no city on the globe enjoys. We have natural advantages above every other city. Had it not been for our natural advantages, and if not more enterprise had been manifested, we would have been nothing to-day but a country village. To-day we have a city of considerable proportions, and particularly if we could get some of our little cities annexed to Pittsburgh. If we will take into consideration the advantages we have of manufacture and the disadvantages we have in point of transportation, we would certainly feel ashamed of ourselves. To-day freight can be shipped from New York to Chicago for twenty-eight cents a hundred pounds. From Pittsburgh to Chicago the price fixed is thirty-eight cents a hundred. I suggested to a merchant to-day it would be advisable to ship goods to Chicago via New York. [Laughter.] If we had a line superior to the Connellsville Railroad this suggestion could be carried out with advantage.

You will thus see at a glance that Pittsburgh commerce is suffering seriously from the fact of the want of enterprise in point of getting the Ohio river improved. There can be, with an expenditure of less money than it cost to build the Union Pacific Railroad, a slack water from Pittsburgh to Cairo, giving us at the lowest stage five or six feet. Small boats can be plied to carry on that water 1,500 or 1,800 tons. They can run with light power, and I will say without fear of contradiction that we could have that improvement made without the expense of lockage, that freight can be carried to New Orleans for from thirty-five to forty cents a hundred pounds at all times of the year.

We had a system of cheap freight from St. Louis to New Orleans. The railroads reduced their price, but in about twelve hours all the railroads were blockaded, and the consequence was that the river had no opposition. Make Pittsburgh a city that has at all times five feet of water and from that to ten, a navigable stream, you place Pittsburgh as a commercial city just where St. Louis is to-day.

THE STEAMBOAT LAW.

You hear the charge that railroad monopoly will break down the steamboat interest. I do not believe it. I blame the citizens of Pittsburgh for not doing anything to improve the Ohio, in not demanding Congress to make an appropriation for this object. They have a right to demand Congress to repeal all these obnoxious laws that have been passed to crush out the steam boat interest. One year ago we had an idea of what was necessary to outfit a steamboat according to law. To-day a wise man has no idea whatever of what is necessary to comply with the steamboat law. Congress passed a law to the effect that steamboats should be taxed with certain flap traps. This law was gotten up by whom? It was gotten up by patentees, and by men in office, by supervising inspectors who had an interest in these patents. Was there ever a law passed to crush out the commerce of the river as that steamboat law? To-day I might outfit my boat and have all the requirements of the law. The supervising inspectors meet in Washington and they demand me to put $1,000 worth of flap traps in the boat. This is the way the commerce of the river is being imposed upon. Why have these patentees opposed the steamboat men? In 1852 there was a steamboat law passed taxing steamboats rather heavily, but it was not so oppressive, and we submitted because it was the law. They have been passing law after law since that time until last winter, and as the saying is, "the last straw broke the camel's back," they have now such a law that no man has any capital to invest in steamboats. And they have gone so far as to say that we shall not carry the very things for which we build our boats. We are restricted from carrying many products of our country. Why, because if we should happen to burn up one of our boats it might hurt somebody. But they never take into account if the railroad burn up two or three hundred cars. The railroad men would not submit to any such infamous law.

WHY ARE NOT RESTRICTIONS PUT UPON THE RAILROADS.

If it was not out of place, I would ask why not ask Congress to pass a bill that every railroad should be compelled to put all these flap-traps on their locomotives. We heard of a locomotive exploding in Louisville the other day, which killed more men than has been killed by all the towboats in the Ohio river since they commenced to ply in the river. I would ask again, why not ask Congress to pass a law that every man should be compelled to put these flap-traps in his rolling mill, steel works, etc. This should not be. We ask the citizens of Pittsburgh to come to the rescue. If they see that the steamboat men are being imposed upon, let them ask Congress to repeal the infamous law, and not only to repeal, but to make a liberal appropriation for the improvement of the river.

THE LOUISVILLE CANAL.

Why should Pittsburgh pay one dollar a ton to pass through the Louisville canal? I believe it is now reduced to fifty cents. We call upon you to get Congress to have the canal made free, and have a free commerce. [Applause.] As there is only $500 stock in the canal, the United States would be able to buy it. [Laughter.]

One word more on how this law was passed. I say it was a law that was snaked through Congress by men who professed to be in sympathy with the river men. The speaker then stated how the bill was passed, and made some severe personal allusions to those through whose influence the bill was passed.

I have learned from a reliable gentleman that the necessary equipment for steamboats in the United States involves an outlay of forty-four million dollars, and this heavy tax is levied for no other purpose but to enrich the patentees and their friends.

ADDRESS OF JAMES REESE.

Mr. Reese was next called upon, who made a few remarks. He said a great mistake was made by the meeting in conflicting the steamboat law with the improvement of the Ohio. He thought the two questions entirely separate, and the object of the meeting he contended was only to take action in the improvement of the river. He would, however, join most heartily in the movement to have this steamboat law repealed, but would keep the two interests separately. He would not join with Mr. Kounts in cursing the inventors in the country. The inventors he held had done a great deal for the country in a thousand ways, and due credit should be given them. The speaker did not believe that the railroads were crushing the river men, as there was enough traffic and commerce to be carried on as could be done by both the railroads and the river men. If the Ohio river were improved it would increase the stock of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Money can be made out of the Ohio river by both the river men and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Captain Kountz, in answer to Mr. Rease, said that he was not opposed to the inventors or to patents, but he was opposed to Congress compelling him to use a patent against his will. There were a great many worthless patents, which he did not wish to adopt.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

Capt. W. W. Martin, from the Committee on Resolutions, now submitted the following:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that our commerce and general trade are suffering from the neglect of our general Government to either improve or assist in improving in an effectual manner our great national highway, the Ohio river.

Resolved, That we as citizens pledge ourselves to use our best efforts to have this long neglected public highway so improved as to accomplish the great end designed by Providence in its creation.

Resolved, That under the oppressive measures embodied in the present steamboat law the interests of our commerce are likely to be embarrassed and our citizens taxed to an amount, in the way of additional freight charges, far beyond what the Government should impose upon any community, and that the law as it now stands will fail to insure the preservation of life as it proposes to do; therefore

Resolved, That we, as citizens, call upon the Hon. J. S. Negley, J. K. Moorhead and J. S. Graham, through a committee appointed by the chair, to procure the necessary aid from Congress to improve the Ohio river, and also to aid in getting the repeal of the present obnoxious steamboat laws, passed in haste by the late Congress, and to use their united efforts to prevail on Congress to throw open free to all the Louisville canal, a request that cannot justly be viewed as unreasonable.

The resolutions were adopted unanimously, without debate.

On motion, Hon. F. R. Brunot was added to the committee.

The meeting then adjourned.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

Mr. Charles Mathews was greeted by a much larger audience last evening, and delighted all with his peculiar, off-hand, jaunty style of acting, and his imperturbable coolness in the character of Sir Charles Coldstream, in "Used Up." The Cleveland company gave him better support than on the previous evening.

To-night the farces, "Little Toddlekins," "Mr. Gatherwool" and "Patter vs. Clatter," will form the bill, Mr. Mathews appearing in each. The two latter are from the pen of Mr. Mathews.

There will be a Thanksgiving matinee at this theater.

Fifth Avenue Opera House.

"Shin Fane" was given last night by Mr. T. D. Riggs and Mr. Beamer's company to a very fair audience in point of numbers and intelligence. The play went off very smoothly, and gave entire satisfaction. Mr. Riggs reinforced the good opinion formed of him Monday evening. He is an actor of undoubted ability in Celtic dramas. The company gave efficient support. "Shin Fane" to-night again. A matinee will be given at this house to-morrow afternoon.

Trimble's Varieties Theater.

For an evening of unadulterated fun, commend us to the Varieties Theater. The female minstrels, Norton, the juggler, and the other performers, keep the interest from flagging throughout the entire evening. There will be two entertainments given here to-morrow, afternoon and evening.

Academy of Music.

Admirers of burnt cork opera should go to the Academy box office early to-day, and secure seats for the first entertainment of Cal Wagner's Minstrels, to be given at that theater this evening. The company is a very complete one, and will no doubt succeed in amusing a house full of people every night during their stay. Cal Wagner and Ned Fox are the "end men," and right well do they fill their positions. Nothing objectionable is allowed on the programme, and the most fastidious can go without fear of being shocked. The minstrels will give a matinee performance to-morrow.

Concert

Miss Jenny Busk, assisted by Henry C. Peakes, formerly basso in the Richings Opera Troupe, Tedesta, the lady violinist, and other artists, will appear here in concert at an early day.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

District Court—Judges Hampton and Kirkpatrick.

In the case of Wilson vs. McCabe, before reported, the jury found for plaintiff $413 48.

David W. Smith vs. Wm. Boyd & Son. Action to recover damages through their alleged negligence. The defendants are contractors, or builders, and while improving the Central Hotel, on Smithfield street, last fall, the defendant was injured by a brick which fell upon his head from the hotel, as he was walking along the sidewalk. The defendants are charged with negligence in not barricading the pavement, or erecting a shed over it, to prevent injuries of this nature. On trial.

The case of Sproul vs. Reiter is still on trial before Judge Kirkpatrick.

TRIAL LIST FOR TO-DAY.

4. R. Finney, trustee, vs. A. Bradley, gar.
45. Rothschild vs. Beyer.
51. Wenona Coal Company vs. Canfield.
52. Same vs. steamer Fair Play.
68. Crow vs. Bailey & Co.
70. Crow vs. steamer General Larimer.
72. Hanauer vs. R. C. Sawyer, administrator.
81. Heard & Co. vs. Pittsburgh.

Common Pleas—Judges Stowe and Collier.

This Court is still engaged on the argument list.

A question of some importance to suitors and magistrates was raised yesterday. At the last session of the Legislature an act was passed requiring parties appealing from judgments before magistrates to make affidavit that the appeal is not taken for the purpose of delay, a copy of which affidavit must accompany the appeal. This act does not seem to have been generally known to attorneys or magistrates, as among the appeals since taken are some twenty-two cases in which no affidavit had been filed. Mr. Cohen moved for a rule to show cause why these appeals should not be stricken off, because the affidavits had not been attached. Messrs. Cohen, Taylar and Cochran supported the rule, and Messrs. Marshall and Robb opposed it. The Court held the matter under advisement.

United States District Court—Judge McCandless.

In the case of Watson, assignee of A. Swaney vs. Isaac Taylor et al, action to recover back the value of a lot of goods sold on an execution of defendants, the Judges disagreed as to the law and the jury was discharged.

THANKSGIVING DINNER.

The Westinghouse Air Brake Company.

One of the best regulated and most systematically arranged machine shops in the city is that of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company, on Liberty avenue, between twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth streets. Here were manufactured all the air brakes now so successfully used on more than eighty of the principal railroads in the country. The machine shop is under the superintendence of Mr. Welsh, as foreman, and the order and neatness which prevail are due to his systematic oversight. As a natural result of good order and discipline, there is a feeling of mutual respect and confidence among the employers and the employed, and the most pleasant relations exist. The company have still further cultivated these friendly feelings by providing a Thanksgiving dinner for their employees, where all meet in a social way, and have a right good time. The second Thanksgiving dinner will be given on Thursday (to-morrow) evening, at the Union Depot Hotel, commencing at half-past six o'clock. If it shall prove as enjoyable and agreeable as the first, —and we have no doubt it will—the return of Thanksgiving will always form a pleasant occasion among the "air brake" men.

THE CUSTOM HOUSE IN DANGER.

A Timely Discovery.

Last night, between ten and eleven o'clock, while Officer Warner was patrolling his beat on Fifth avenue, he discovered an unusual light in one of the rooms in the second story of the Custom House building. Quickly ascending the stairs he discovered smoke issuing from the room of the United States District Attorney. It was but the work of a moment to gain admittance, when it became apparent that he was not any too soon. A gas jet, which is located close to Mr. Swoope's law library, had set fire to the shade which surrounded it, and the flames had caught the woodwork of the book case. In the room was a pail of water, and by a proper distribution of the fluid the incipient conflagration was nipped in the bud. The damage done is but slight.

CITY MATTERS IN BRIEF.

PENN avenue is now in good order as far as the Eastern Exchange.

BUSINESS continued active on the Monongahela wharf yesterday.

THE Postoffice will be open on Thursday from 8 to 10 A. M. Carriers will make one delivery of mail in the morning only.

REV. VAN DE MARK would have had a large audience at Library Hall last night had not sickness prevented him from lecturing.

"SHIN FANE" is pronounced an excellent Irish drama. Manager Beamer has placed it on the stage at considerable expense.

ELLEN LEE, a new arrival in the city, was picked up in a drunken condition, near the Union Depot, last night, and furnished with a cell in the station house.

HOLMES, the alleged fugitive from justice, arrested by Alderman Humbert's police some days ago, is still in jail. Advices of his connection with certain disappearances of horses in the neighborhood of Grafton, W. Va., are expected daily.

MAYOR BRUSH yesterday received the following additional subscriptions to the Chicago and Northwestern Relief Fund: T. S. Hoffman, Greensburg, $1; Poor girl, in Indiana county, $1; Presbyterian Congregation, Sharon, Moon township, per W. H. Guy $75; German Evangelical Church, Temperanceville $20 and German Evangelical Church, Robinson township, $40 (both per Rev. S. H. Schnorr, the pastor); Samuel Freeman, Connellsville, Pa. $10.

ALLEGHENY.

ITEMS IN BRIEF.

THE names suggested for Select Council in the Sixth ward are Louis Peterson, L. P. Stone and Geo. Cochran; for Common Council, Wm. Rowbottom, R. H. Knox and T. Jones. The primary election comes off on Saturday.

SOME TIME during Monday night, a series of depredations were made by some unknown scoundrels on the premises of Phillip Sauls, No. 144 Spring Garden avenue. They first forced an entrance into the slaughter house, and destroyed everything possible within their reach. They then went into the cattle yard and maliciously killed a valuable bullock, and finally departed, driving off before them another bullock. Every effort will be made to ferret out the scoundrels.

THE congregation connected with the English Lutheran Church of this city, will give a thanksgiving dinner, commencing at eleven o'clock in the morning, and continuing until three, at the old rooms of Wm. Semple, Nos. 180 and 182 Federal street. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the church. Those having the affair in charge know how to prepare a dinner that can not fail meet the expectations of all who may be present, and a most pleasant time may be anticipated. The table will be ladened with all that the most fastidious taste could desire, and no pains will be spared to make the occasion a most enjoyable one. The price of tickets has been fixed at only fifty cents.

Meeting of the Grand Temple.

The Grand Temple of the Order of True Templars commenced its first annual session yesterday morning in True Templar's Hall, corner Federal and Lacock streets. There were about forty delegates present, each representing a Temple. This Order, although organized only a little over a year ago, has gained rapidly in numbers and influence, until over fifty Temples have been instituted, all of which are in a flourishing condition. The members of the Order have not been satisfied with instituting Temples in this State, but already a number of Temples have been instituted in Maryland and New Jersey.

The meeting was called to order at ten o'clock, by R. H. Semple, G. T.; Mr. Geo. F. Barnes, G. R., officiated as Secretary.

After the transaction of routine business an election of officers to serve the ensuing year was entered into, with the following result:

Daniel Kalbfus, G. T., Mauch Chunk; A. N. McGonigle, G. V. T., Birmingham; George F. Barnes, G. R., Philadelphia; W. E. Besseliever, G. Treas., Philadelphia; W. T. Powell, G. U., Birmingham; W. J. Freeborn, G. G., Allegheny; Thomas K. Donnaly, G. C., Philadelphia.

After the election of officers, the Grand Temple adjourned to meet this morning at nine o'clock.

LADIES' FURS.

Immense Stock of Furs and Robes at Wm. Fleming & Co.'s, 139 Wood Street—Goods Sold at 15 to 20 Per Cent Lower Than Other Houses.

Honesty, integrity and attention to business is the grand secret of the success of all the leading firms in our city. As an evidence of this fact it is only necessary to refer to the enterprising firm of William Fleming & Co., 139 Wood street, now one of the most extensive establishments of its character in the West. By honesty and close attention to business they have built up a large trade second to none in the country. Their present stock embraces everything in the fur line, and is the largest ever brought to this city. In addition to their large assortment of ladies' furs, which includes all the various grades from the fine Hudson Bay and mink sables to the Alaska mink, they have wolf, fox and buffalo robes, afghans and sleigh wraps, articles just in season, and of a very superior quality. It is an established fact that Messrs. Wm. Fleming & Co. sell all classes of goods in their line at from fifteen to twenty per cent. lower than they can be purchased at any other house. Call and examine the stock and be satisfied of the truth of this statement.

Decorating China.

The art of decorating china and stoneware is in its infancy in this country. A great deal of porcelain is decorated in Europe, especially for the American market, and in most cases the buyer of it is dissatisfied, because the gilding washes or rubs off, and for that reason ornamented dishes are not used as extensively in this country as they would be if it was not so difficult to discern between good and bad decorated ware; because, viewed from the point of making money, there is a great deal more money made be selling poorly decorated than good ware. The secret of gold or color remaining on china or stoneware, so that it will not wear nor wash off when used, consists in one thing—the burning in of gold in the material itself, which can only be done by remelting the composition, which gives to china and stoneware its finish and shining appearance. F. Malik, 169 Smithfield street, has kilns and ovens built, in which he re-melts the china and therefore his ornamental ware must keep its color and appearance, because by this process of fire the gold or color is intermixed with the material itself and it is apparent that he must be in a condition to warrant his decorated ware superior to any imported, because any merchant selling the imported wares does not and cannot know how it was put on. If he should try the gilding to find out he would spoil it and not be able to replace it. F. Malik will match pieces to broken sets, and his prices for goods and work are lower than any other person could sell the same quality of goods for. Large stock of china on hand; also, vases, stoneware, &c. Do not be deceived by offers of having your sets decorated or matched by sending them to France or New York when you can get it done cheaper at home. Names burnt on doorplates, cups, moustache cups, etc., suitable for presents, our specialty. Call and examine process of decoration, 169 Smithfield street.

Fresh Oysters.

Messrs. Pancoast & Co., No. 184 Liberty street, dealers in oysters, game, &c., have fully demonstrated their ability to supply the public with the very best oysters to be obtained in this market, at lower prices than any other dealers. They sell full cans for thirty cents. They have no XXX oysters, and don't deal in them. Their bucket oysters, like their can oysters, are warranted fresh, and the cans are warranted to be full measure. Country dealers can save from 20 to 25 per cent. by buying at Pancoast & Co.'s, as they bring their oysters direct from Baltimore in large quantities, and can afford to sell cheaper than other houses. They receive shell and bucket oysters daily, fresh from the oyster beds, and are prepared to furnish shell oysters by the dozen, hundred or barrel, to suit families, on short notice. Give them a call and try their oysters.

Books for the Holidays.

As the Holidays are approaching there will doubtless soon be a demand for holiday goods, and as a neatly bound volume of some of the standard poets, or other books, are about the most appropriate token of remembrance to present to a friend, we take pleasure in referring our readers to the well stocked book and stationery store of Messrs. R. S. Davis & Co., 175 Liberty street, where will be found a full assortment of books suitable for holiday presents, among which we noticed the full edition of the Waverly novels, comprising twenty-five volumes, 8 vo., neatly bound in half calf and marbled paper, with marble edges, and beautifully illustrated with two hundred and four fine steel engravings. Also, a large volume, entitled "Outlines to Shakespeare's Dramatic Works," by Moritz Retzsch, bound in red Turkey morocco, with gilt finish and gilt edge, and many other excellent works. They have also on hand a large stock of toy books and picture books for the children, as well as a full stock of standard and miscellaneous books and stationery of every description.

Oysters for Thanksgiving.

It is all well enough for persons to style themselves kings and princes, oyster kings, &c., but unless the public are in some way benefited by them they are of little consequence to the masses. Mr. John M. Buck, dealer in oysters, fish and game, at No. 44 Diamond Market, Pittsburgh, while he does not claim to be an oyster king, has, to our certain knowledge, done more to reduce the price of fish and oysters, and supplies his customers with a better quality of both these palatable articles for less money, than any other dealer in the two cities. Mr. Buck has established a reputation in this city for selling good, fresh oysters and fish, and as a consequence has established a large business, and continues to serve his customers at low rates with bucket, can or shell oysters. Remember his stand—No. 44 Diamond Market. A fresh stock for Thanksgiving Day.

Style 6 of Knabe Piano.

I have this day received a bill of one of these very popular pianos, with top and serpentine carved mouldings, with four round corners. This style there has been such a demand for in the last five months that I have only been able to have them in stock about half the time. Hereafter I expect to be able to supply my customers who want this particular style without delay. As I have this morning made arrangements with Mr. Knabe to send me a sufficient number every week, another of same style will arrive the end of this week. Have now on hand a full stock of all other styles of "Knabe & Co.'s Pianos," "Haines Bro.'s," and "J. Bauer & Co.'s Pianos," which I will sell at lowest wholesale price. Chas. G.
